With regard to Ed M. Gilbert, a highly confidential and extremely delicate source in May, 1947, made available information indicating that Gilbert had been a member of the Communist Party for 12 years and was an active member of the Party at that time.

With regard to the policies propagated by this group, Confidential Informant [redacted] has related that the Screen Cartoonists Guild, prior to the time Germany invaded Russia, came out strongly against United States aid to Britain and against the United States entry into the war. However, when Russia was invaded by the Germans, the Screen Cartoonists Guild called for the United States to enter the war and the establishment of a second front.

[redacted] related that the leading functionary of the Screen Cartoonists Guild from 1943 to 1945 was Mortimer William Pomerance, who, during that period, was the Business Representative of the union and used his influence to direct and control union activities which would bring the union into the Communist orbit. The Communist connections of Pomerance are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

[redacted] related in February, 1944, that the Communist Party in Los Angeles was working through its members and fellow travelers in the Hollywood movie industry and had gained control or at least strong influence in 17 studio guild unions, one of which was the Screen Cartoonists Guild. This latter union was a member of the Conference of Studio Unions which was then under Communist influence. [redacted] related that the Screen Cartoonists Guild was one of the studio guilds which sponsored the Hollywood Writers Mobilization (a Communist front group discussed in Section III), which, from its inception, started clamoring for a second front and continued to follow the Communist Party line. From [redacted]

[redacted] a functionary of the Communist Party in Los Angeles, it was ascertained that on April 21, 1944, Mortimer William Pomerance, acting as the Business Representative of the Screen Cartoonists Guild, conferred with Elizabeth Glenn. On this occasion, Glenn was advised by Pomerance that the Guild had no objection to Communist Party meetings being held at the Screen Cartoonists Hall.

Through a highly confidential but delicate source it was ascertained on January 16, 1945, that Elizabeth Leach, Organizer of the Northwest Section of the Communist Political Association, Los Angeles County, had a report which dealt with the Screen Cartoonists Guild. This report stated:

"The Screen Cartoonists Guild has done a great deal toward developing understanding of the possibilities of the cartoon film as a propagandist educational medium. Through the educational activities of the Union it has been possible to achieve more consistent democratic content in the regular governmental films themselves. In addition, members of the Guild have undertaken to make films for labor and police organizations. The first of these was the United Auto Workers cartoon 'Hell Bent for Election' which was conceived and produced by members of the Guild."

[REDACTED] California, advised on June 16, 1947, that Mary Sherret, Cecil Beard and Norman McCabe, who are cartoonists and artists in the motion picture industry, were contacting numerous cartoonists who were then unemployed through the Screen Cartoonists Guild and were making plans to put out a series of cartoon books for children as well as adults in order to influence their thinking toward Communism. Mary Sherret told this informant, [REDACTED] that if children will follow these cartoon booklets, it will result, when they become adult, in their being masters of the machine rather than the machine mastering them. It should be pointed out that there is no information available in Los Angeles reflecting that any of the above three individuals are members of the Communist Party.

Confidential Informant [REDACTED] as well as informants [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] Walt Disney Studios, advised that the Screen Cartoonists Guild presently has its offices in Union Hall at 6272 Yucca Street, Hollywood, California. According to [REDACTED] there are approximately 800 members of the Screen Cartoonists Guild, 300 of whom are unemployed. According to all of the above mentioned informants, the Screen Cartoonists Guild held an election of officers on June 24, 1947, at which time the following individuals were elected who are members of the Communist Party or who have indicated Communist sympathies:

Robert Carlson

Carlson, who was elected Treasurer of the Screen Cartoonists Guild, was reported by Mr. [REDACTED] Texas, in June, 1947, as having received Communist literature at the Y.M.C.A. where he resided during his visit to El Paso, Texas, in the latter part of 1946. [REDACTED] also stated that Carlson talked openly in favor of Communism.

Maurice Howard

Maurice Howard was elected the Business Agent of the Screen Cartoonists Guild. He was identified as a Communist in Hollywood on 2/26/45 through a most reliable and very delicate source. It is also known through an extremely reliable but very delicate source that his wife, Evelyn, was also a member of the Communist Party. Through [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] it was ascertained that Howard was in frequent contact with Glenn during July, 1945, Glenn at that time being the organizer for the Communist Political Association in the Hollywood area.

Hilton S. Tyre

Tyre is the Legal Advisor for the Screen Cartoonists Guild. Through [REDACTED] paid informant of the Los Angeles Office who furnishes information concerning the activities at the Los Angeles County Communist Party headquarters, supplied data during July, 1945, indicating that Tyre was a member of the Communist Political Association, having transferred from the 59th A.D. Branch to the Wilshire-Fairfax Branch. This report from this source was also verified on June 15, 1947, through a very reliable but highly delicate source which reflected that Tyre was still a member of the Communist Party and that he had held membership in the Party for a period of two years.

William "Bill" Higgins

Higgins, who was a member of the Board of Trustees of this Guild, was reported by [REDACTED] an informant of the Los Angeles Office, to have been very pro-Communist and pro-Russian in his speech while he was in the United States Army at Camp Roach. [REDACTED] also reported that Higgins had Communist Party literature in his possession.

Cecil Beard

Beard is also a member of the Board of Trustees and has the position of delegate in the Conference of Studio Unions. The Communist connections of Beard are set out in Section I of this memorandum which will reflect that Beard is a member of the Communist Party and a former member of the Communist Political Association.

Thomas Byrnes

Byrnes is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Guild. Confidential Informant [REDACTED] of the Los Angeles Office stated on July 30, 1947, that he was well acquainted with Byrnes who to his knowledge married a woman who is a member of the Communist Party. However, the informant was unable to furnish the name of Byrnes wife. He stated that Byrnes agrees with and is under the influence of Maurice Howard and Cecil Beard, identified above.

It is also of interest to note that [REDACTED] reported that Arthur Babbitt, the former President of this organization and one who has exercised a great deal of influence in the Guild, has now gone to France on a temporary mission to assist in the making of motion pictures. [REDACTED] [REDACTED] reported with regard to Babbitt that on June 20, 1940, Babbitt was one of a number of cartoonists who spent several evenings each week making drawings and cartoons to be sent to Communist Party headquarters in New York and in turn published in Communist Party publications. According to Informant [REDACTED] California, Babbitt was discharged by the Walt Disney Studios on June 6, 1941, for endeavoring to influence other employees to become interested in Communist matters and also for the distribution of Communist literature.

Through a highly confidential but very delicate source, it was ascertained that the following individuals who are screen cartoonists, are members of the Communist Party. Their Communist Party affiliations are set out in Section I of this memorandum:

Screen Office Employees Guild, AFL Local 1391

[REDACTED] of the Studio Drivers Transportation Union, AFL Local 309, and Chairman of the Motion Picture Alliance, reported that the Screen Office Employees Guild was originally affiliated with the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, AFL Local 1391.

He related that in 1945 when the Conference of Studio Unions called a strike in the film industry, all of the members of the Screen Office Employees Guild were not in full accord with the provisions of the strike. Consequently, about half of the members in the union went back to work. He also related that in the interim between the 1945 strike and the current film strike, the National Labor Relations Board held an election within the Screen Office Employees Guild at which time the Screen Office Employees Guild voted to affiliate with the AFL "Office Employees Industrial Union". Accordingly, the Screen Office Employees Guild no longer exists.

On July 24, 1947, this same source related that at one time the Screen Office Employees Guild was strongly dominated by the Communist Party and contained many members within its organization who were members of the Communist Party. This source based his statement on the long experience and his observations of the tactics and policies followed by various individuals listed hereinafter who were members of the Screen Office Employees Guild as of July 30, 1944.

Screen Directors Guild, Inc.

The Hollywood Studio Blu-Book Directory, spring edition, 1947, lists 18 officers of the Screen Directors Guild, none of whom have been identified as Communists and therefore the names of the officers and directors are not being set out. Through a very highly confidential and most delicate source, it was ascertained that 9 directors presently connected with the motion picture industry are or have been members of the Communist Party. They are set forth as follows:

Jack Berry, Universal Studios
Louis Brandt, Assistant Director in charge of production at Audio Pictures, Inc.
Herbert Eberman, Freelance, unemployed at present
Jules Dassin, Offices of Mark Hellinger
Edward Dmytryk, RKO Studios

In addition to the above, Confidential Informant [REDACTED] who is a member of the Board of Directors of the Screen Writers Guild, advised that the following directors are not members of the Screen Directors Guild. However, they have been identified through highly confidential but most delicate sources as members of the Communist Party or the Communist Political Association.

Herman Fottstein, In 1945 employed by Columbia Studios
Ben Shaw, an Assistant Director

Musicians Mutual Protective Association
(Local 47, American Federation of Musicians, Affiliated with the American Federation of Labor)

[REDACTED] Los Angeles, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] American Federation of Musicians, stated on July 23, 1947, that this union, Musicians Mutual Protective Association, included all professional white musicians in the Los Angeles area.

The April, 1947, edition of the Musicians Directory, an official publication of this union, listed approximately 13,000 members in good standing.
The July, 1947, "Overture" which is the official journal of this union, listed the '47 officers. The only individual listed among the current officers who has been identified as a Communist is Don E. Wight, a member of the Trial Board and Delegate to the Pasadena Central Labor Council. Wight was identified as a member of the Communist Party in April, 1943, possessing Communist Party Book #36200 by a highly confidential and most delicate source.

Information concerning this group is set out in the report of the Joint Fact-Finding Committee of the California Legislature on Un-American Activities for 1947, which reflects that from 1937 to 1939, the President of this group was California State Senator, Jack B. Tenney, whose candidacy had originally been supported by a group of approximately 65 Communist Party members. According to the report, during Tenney's term of office, he conducted an investigation of Communism within the local which resulted in a number of expulsions. In 1939, Tenney was defeated for reelection and according to the report, since that time the activities of the Communists within the union have resulted in its withdrawal from affiliation with the Los Angeles Central Labor Council and from the State Federation of Labor. According to Informant [REDACTED] the President of the Local, J. K. (Spike)
Wallace, succeeded Tenney as President due to the fact that he had received the Communist support in the union. He related that during the period from 1939 until 1947, Wallace cooperated with the Communist members of the union to such an extent that the Communists actually exercised control over the policies of the local. He related that the local's constitution provides that 150 members constitutes a quorum and that it was extremely difficult to secure an attendance as large as this at a union meeting. Consequently, there have only been four quorum meetings of the union during the past five years with the result that the general membership estimated at nearly 15,000 had no voice in the affairs of the local. According to this source, the Communists made numerous demands upon Wallace during the last National Convention of the group with which Wallace found it impossible to comply. As a result, Wallace was severely criticized by this faction but indicated to this source that from now on he was through with the Communists. Each of the following individuals are members in good standing of Local 47 of the American Federation of Musicians. They have been identified through a highly confidential but very delicate source as members of the Communist Political Association as of January 16, 1945, or Communist Party as of May 17, 1947:

Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions

This organization was formed originally as the "Emergency Committee of the Hollywood Guilds and Unions" to combat the so-called "Fascist Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals" and held its first meeting on Wednesday, June 28, 1944, in Hollywood, California. The purpose of this original meeting was, according to an official announcement which appeared in the Hollywood Reporter, to get together representatives of 17 guilds and unions in the Motion Picture Industry to set up a constructive program during the war and after which would protect the industry and its workers from anti-labor and semi-Fascist attacks.

By way of identification, it should be pointed out that the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals, according to its statement of principles has been set up believing in the American way of life in an effort to combat Communism, Fascism and kindred beliefs that sought by subversive means to undermine our American Government. Confidential Informant [REDACTED] previously identified, has related that several meetings took place in order to formulate plans for an organization set up to combat the Motion Picture Alliance. One of these meetings took place on February 7, 1944, two days after the publicity announcing the formation of the Motion Picture Alliance. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] it was ascertained that Paul Cline, a Communist functionary in Los Angeles and publicly identified, according to the Voters' Registration in Los Angeles, as a member of the Communist Party, met with Carl Winter, the Executive Secretary of the Los Angeles County Communist Party, to consider ways and means to attack the Motion Picture Alliance.

A surveillance on March 2, 1944, by Agents of the Los Angeles Office reflected that the following Communists gathered at Sardi's Restaurant to formulate a program directed against the Motion Picture Alliance: Elizabeth Leach, William Pomerance and George Pepper. Likewise a conference was had between John Howard Lawson, leading Communist functionary in the Motion Picture Industry, and Robert Rossen, former President of the Screen Writers Guild, and Hollywood Writers Mobilization, identified in Section I of this memorandum as a Communist, with a similar purpose. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] through this same source on March 31, 1944, it was ascertained that Lawson told William Pomerance that the Screen Writers Guild should start the ball rolling in forming an attack on the Motion Picture Alliance. Lawson suggested that the attack be made against persons who were leading the Motion Picture Alliance and that the attack be worded in such a way to indicate that the persons responsible for the Motion Picture Alliance were against the war effort. Through this [REDACTED] source, it was also ascertained that a meeting was held during March, 1944, at the home of Albert Maltz, screen writer whose Communist affiliations are set out in Section I, to further formulate plans to fight the Motion Picture Alliance. At this meeting, Agents surveilling the residence of Maltz identified such active Communist functionaries as Lester Cole and Elizabeth Leach.

Through [REDACTED] it was ascertained that a conference was had between Lawson and Katz on May 2, 1944, relative to the "Birt the Communist Party was then attempting to uncover concerning the Motion Picture Alliance leaders". By way of identification concerning the Katz with whom Lawson held this conference, it should be pointed out that this individual is Charles Katz, a Los Angeles attorney whom John Leech, when testifying before a Los Angeles County Grand Jury, identified as a Communist Party member. John Leech himself is a former Communist Party Organizer in Los Angeles.

On May 9, 1944, an article appeared in the West Coast Communist newspaper, the People's World, listing 38 film unions and guilds which sent delegates to a meeting on May 2, 1944. This meeting was called according to former Confidential Informant, [REDACTED] of the Los Angeles Office, to formulate plans for the organization to be set up which would fight the Motion Picture Alliance.

On May 16, 1944, through [REDACTED] it was ascertained that Dalton Trumbo, Communist screen writer, conferred with Lawson concerning the Motion Picture Alliance. On this occasion, Trumbo indicated he had prepared a report which set out the long-range program being planned by the Communist Party in its attack against the Motion Picture Alliance. Trumbo stated that the opponents of the Motion Picture Alliance should be prepared to offer a constructive program in contrast to the Motion Picture Alliance's destructive one. Trumbo stated that it was necessary to hold a mass meeting and suggested the use of the Publicists Guild in obtaining the widest possible press space concerning the meeting. It was Trumbo's opinion that the primary aim of this meeting should be a complete exposure of the Motion Picture Alliance. Trumbo believed that it should be brought out at this meeting the inability of the Motion Picture Alliance to name one single picture containing their objective (Communist propaganda). Trumbo believed that this was a very vital point inasmuch as he did not feel that this organization could attack a specific motion picture without attacking specific picture producing organizations and at that moment the Motion Picture Alliance would be giving the opposition new allies. Trumbo indicated the guilds and unions should consider their economic interests in the postwar world as being one that directly coincides with the economic interests of the producers and of the industry as a whole. Trumbo also indicated that the economic interest of all was directly dependent upon the kind of pictures made.

He mentioned that the Motion Picture Alliance was against shaping the contents of a movie for any other purpose than that of making money. He also felt that they proposed to change the world of motion pictures, thereby doing exactly what the Motion Picture Alliance was fighting. Concerning Trumbo, it should be pointed out that he is a Communist screen writer and that his Communist connections are set out in Section I of this memorandum. In reporting on this meeting held on May 16, 1944, Confidential Informant [REDACTED] of the Los Angeles Office who was a former Communist Party member, stated that the idea was stressed to emphasize to the public the role the motion pictures played against Fascism as well as the role pictures will play in the postwar world. He stated that this proposed organization was Communist inspired and was created to fight "red baiting". He stated that if this proposed organization was successful it would help further Communist Propaganda in the motion picture industry.

He related that most of the individuals attending this meeting were either Communist Party members or active Communist Party supporters. [redacted] related that on June 6, 1944, at the Screen Cartoonists Hall, he attended a meeting which was called "an emergency meeting of the Hollywood Guilds and Unions". According to [redacted] approximately 18 persons were present, including Robert Rossen, who acted as Chairman; William Pomerance; Herbert K. Sorrell and Lester Cole, all of whom have been identified in Section I of this memorandum as being or having been members of the Communist Party or Communist Political Association.

The Council of Hollywood Guilds and Unions as previously pointed out, was actually formed on June 28, 1944. According to Informant [redacted] one of the purposes for which the Council was built was to "smack down any individual group who attempts to attack the Communist front organizations in motion pictures". According to [redacted] the Motion Picture Alliance was to be attacked from all angles and connected with everything subversive. It was to be accused of Fascism, anti-Democracy, anti-Semitism, anti-Catholicism, anti-Negro, anti-labor, anti-British, anti-Soviet, etc., so that the Motion Picture Alliance would have nothing left to throw back at the Communists without being a "copy cat".

Informant [redacted] related that 17 guilds and unions signed the announcement of the formation of the Emergency Committee of Hollywood Guilds and Unions.

On January 20, 1947, through a highly confidential but very delicate source, it was ascertained that there were 7 unions affiliated with the Conference of Studio Unions which belonged to the Council and that there were 2 International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees locals, 2 independent unions and one AFL union which comprised the membership of the Council at that time. These were as follows:

Screen Story Analyst Guild
Screen Cartoonist Guild
Screen Costumers Guild
Film Technicians
Film Electricians, Local 40
Mechanists Guild
Musicians Local 767 (This is not the musicians union to which musicians in the studios belong.)
Painters Union
Screen Publicists Union
Screen Supervisors Union
Screen Set Decorators
Screen Writers Guild

This source related that the Council had lost, mainly because of the difficulties over the current film strike, the Screen Actors Guild, the Screen Office Employees Guild and Musicians Local #47. Informant [redacted] related the Council had supported all "left-wing, radical elements within the labor movement". This source, who is an official in the labor movement, stated on July 24, 1947, that a radical element packed the first meeting of the Council and took it over. He expressed the opinion the Council was strictly Communist dominated, and, although the Council was relatively dormant at the present time, it must still be regarded as a force in the radical labor wing and will probably spring out soon in support of the third party movement. With regard to the present officers, the latest report available concerning the officers of the Hollywood Guilds and Unions was found in the Hollywood Reporter for March 2, 1945. This publication reflected the following officers of the Council were elected:

| | | |
|----------------------|---------------------|---|
| Chairman: | Mary C. McCall, Jr. | (Screen Writers Guild) |
| Vice Chairman: | Paul Harvey | (Screen Actors Guild) |
| Secretary-Treasurer: | Ted Ellsworth | (Motion Picture Costumers) |
| Board of Directors: | John R. Martin | (Film Technicians) |
| | Bill Blowitz | (Screen Publicists Guild) |
| | Min Selvin | (Screen Office Employees Guild) |
| | Howard Estabrook | (Screen Writers Guild) |
| | Sig Nesselroth | (Moving Picture Painters, AFL, Local 644) |

Of the above listed individuals, Min Selvin and Bill Blowitz are known Communists and their communistic connections are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

It should also be pointed out that Margaret Bennett Mills accepted the position of Executive Secretary of the Council according to Informant [redacted] in February, 1946. [redacted] related that she indicated she was formerly President of the Screen Office Employees Guild and a delegate to the Central Labor Council. Mills' Communist connections are set out under Section I of this memorandum.

III. COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF INTELLECTUAL GROUPS

The Communist Party Directive of 1935, as reported by Confidential Informant [redacted] previously referred to herein which directed the Communists to penetrate the motion picture industry, included a specific call to the Communists requesting that they concentrate on the so-called intellectual groups composed of directors, writers, artists, actors, actresses, and highly paid technicians. In this field of intellectual groups, particularly among the writers and directors, the Communists have been most successful and their influence has been far reaching. According to [redacted] the Communist activity in this field has been to work through front organizations which were not openly identified as Communist Party groups but, nevertheless, were controlled or under the influence of the Party through its official membership.

To further substantiate the report of Informant [redacted] Confidential Informant [redacted] of the New York Office has related that a part of the Communist Party's general program to infiltrate the motion picture industry was to penetrate the so-called intellectual groups in Hollywood. According to [redacted] one of the key figures of the Communist Party in propagating this plan of infiltrating the intellectual groups is John Howard Lawson. Lawson has been identified as a Communist screen writer in Section I of this memorandum.

Informant [redacted] reported that in 1930, in the Soviet Union there was set up an organization known as the International Union of Revolutionary Theatre. This group was the parent of a multitude of sub-organizations which, in the United States, were known as Workers' Theatres, Theatre Groups, et cetera. The first group formed as an outgrowth of the International Union of Revolutionary Theatres was the League of Workers' Theatres, created in New York in approximately 1932. During 1934, its name was changed to the New Theatre League.

New Theatre League

Informant [redacted] has reported that this organization set up a National Executive Board in 1935, composed of representatives in the writing and directing field throughout the United States. Among the individuals who were associated with this group in an executive capacity and who have been active in Hollywood are John Howard Lawson, writer; Albert Maltz, writer; Clifford Odets, writer; Jay Leyda, director; Lester Cole, writer; Herbert Biberman, director; Frank Tuttle, director; J. Edgar Bromberg, actor; Lionel Stander, actor; and Donald Ogden Stewart, writer. Of the above mentioned individuals Lawson, Maltz, Leyda, Cole, Biberman, Tuttle, and Bromberg all have been identified as Communists and their Communist Party affiliations are set out in Section I. Clifford Odets, according to Informant [redacted] was one of the original organizers of the League of American Writers.

Lionel Stander has been reported by Informant [redacted] as having been a member of the American League for Peace and Democracy, as well as having been active in the American League Against War and Fascism and the North American Committee To Aid Spanish Democracy. Informant [REDACTED] has advised that Stander was at one time one of the most active Communists of the Hollywood professional set. Donald Ogden Stewart, according to Informant [REDACTED] was a member of the League of American Writers, the American Peace Mobilization, International Workers Order, Screen Writers Guild, Hollywood Writers Mobilization and the American League for Peace and Democracy. Stewart has been identified by Informant [REDACTED] as a Communist.

The American League Against War and Fascism and the American League for Peace and Democracy both are subversive organizations and have been declared subversive within the purview of the Hatch Act. The North American Committee To Aid Spanish Democracy is a Communist influenced organization as is the International Workers Order, both of which have been referred to the Department for its consideration under Executive Order Number 9835, dated March 21, 1947. The Hollywood organizations with which these individuals are affiliated are discussed in this Section of the memorandum.

League of American Writers

According to [REDACTED] another mobilizing force in the cultural field which was active in the early 1930s in Hollywood, California, was the League of American Writers. The League of American Writers was said to be a part of an international organization of writers and intellectuals which had its origin at a World Congress of writers held in Kharkov, Russia, during November of 1930.

Soon after this Congress, there appeared in the United States groups of writers in the larger cities who organized themselves under the direction of the Communist Party into what were called John Reed Clubs. According to Informant [REDACTED], a convention, in January 1935, was held in New York City of the John Reed Clubs. According to this source, the principal business transacted by this session was to call another Congress of writers which was to be held in New York City, April 1935. When this Congress convened, all John Reed Clubs were dissolved and in their place a much broader organization was formed known as the League of American Writers. Confidential Informant [REDACTED] related that at this first writers Congress, the Communist Party was openly represented and the Congress was under the direction of Earl Browder, at that time secretary of the Communist Party, USA. Soon after this meeting, the Hollywood motion pictures began to attract writers from all parts of the United States and in fact from all parts of the world. This resulted in the establishment of the Hollywood Chapter of the League of American Writers in the Fall of 1935. According to Informant [REDACTED] the purpose of this group was to bring the writers employed in the motion picture industry under the influence of the League of American Writers which at that time was the foremost Communist front organization operating in the so-called intellectual fields for the Communist Party in the United States. He related that the efforts of this group were extremely successful which resulted in this branch becoming, in a short time, the dominant unit of the League and one of its strongest propaganda instruments.

██████████ related that up until the time of the signing of the Hitler-Stalin Pact on August 23, 1939, the League of American Writers, including the Hollywood Chapter, worked out in the open and was most successful in its Communist activities. However, following the signing of this Pact the League being completely under the control of the Communist Party changed its position from one of collective security to isolation which resulted in the League becoming very cautious and working practically in secret. This change in policy exposed the League to the public as a Communist front organization. On July 17, 1947, Informant ██████████ furnished a list of the last set of officers and executive board members of the League of American Writers, which was taken from the stationery of the organization. According to ██████████ these officers were elected at the Fourth Writers' Congress held in New York City, June 6-8, 1941, for a term of two years. According to ██████████ these officers remained in office until the organization went out of existence in 1943. The officers elected in June of 1941, were the following:

|----------------------|--------------------------|----------------------------|
| Theodore Dreiser | Honorary President | Novelist |
| Daschiell Hammett | President | Screen Writer |
| Donald Ogden Stewart | Vice President | Screen Writer |
| John Howard Lawson | Vice President | Screen Writer |
| Albert Maltz | Vice President | Screen Writer |
| Meridel Leseuer | Vice President | Writer for "New Masses" |
| George Seldes | Vice President | Editor of "In Fact" |
| Richard Wright | Vice President - Negro - | Writer |
| Franklin Folsom | Executive Secretary | |

The executive board consisted of 36 members of which 9 have Communist Party records. In addition to these 9, the Honorary President Dreiser and the Vice President Maltz also have Communist records. These Communist records are as follows:

Theodore Dreiser

Hollywood School for Writers

The League of American Writers established in Hollywood, according to Informant [redacted] the Hollywood School for Writers which acted as a subsidiary of the League of American Writers and was said to be a transmission belt whereby budding writers were developed along political lines followed by the League of American Writers and conditioned for eventual membership in the League as well as the Communist Party. This School was established in October of 1939. An examination of its listed instructors and lecturers for 1942-1943 reflects that the majority of them have been identified with various Communist Front movements. Many of them actually were members of the Communist Party, such as John Howard Lawson, Guy Endore and Dalton Trumbo. The Communist Party affiliations of these individuals are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

Hollywood Writers Mobilization

According to Informant [redacted] of the Los Angeles Office, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization is another offshoot of the League of American Writers. [redacted] stated that when the Communist Party line changed with the invasion of Russia by Adolf Hitler on June 22, 1941, it became necessary to dissolve such organizations as the Hollywood Peace Forum, the Hollywood League for Democratic Action, the American Peace Mobilization and the Motion Picture Democratic Committee which had been opposing the entrance of the United States into war. By February of 1942, [redacted] stated these organizations had been "liquidated" and the Communist Party had declared itself for full participation in the war.

The first of these to emerge, according to [redacted] was the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. [redacted] related that this organization actually came into existence early in 1942. He stated that the personnel of the new organization included writers in the motion picture industry who had heretofore been affiliated with the League of American Writers. The Chairman of this new organization was Robert Rossen whose Communist Party affiliations are set out in Section I. Rossen has also been active in the Screen Writers Guild, a Communist influenced group.

Confidential Informant [redacted] of the Los Angeles Office related that the following eight guilds sponsored the Hollywood Writers Mobilization at the time it was set up, and that each of these guilds was under Communist influence:

1. Screen Writers' Guild
2. Radio Writers' Guild
3. Screen Publicists' Guild
4. Screen Readers' Guild
5. Screen Cartoonists' Guild
6. American Newspaper Guild
7. Independent Publicists' Guild
8. Song Writers' Protective Association

He related that while the total membership of these Guilds was approximately 7,500, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization was operated by representatives or delegates from these Guilds which number not more than twenty-five individuals as John Howard Lawson, Robert Rossen, Francis Faragoh and Herbert Biberman, all of whom he described as Communists. The Communist affiliations of all of these individuals with the exception of Francis Faragoh, are set out in Section I of this memorandum. He related that the organization was a paper-type group which "stooged" for the League of American Writers, through which the latter continued to operate as a propaganda agency for the Communist Party.

The announced purpose of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization was to mobilize the writers in the screen industry to assist in the war effort and particularly to assist the various Government and military agencies in the preparation of propaganda material for use either against the enemy or for general morale purposes at home. [redacted] described the organization's primary purpose as being the providing of material for military camp shows slanted to project the Communist line. He further described it as a clearing house for Communist propaganda in Hollywood.

Marc Connelly, one of the dominant figures in the creation of this organization, in testifying before the Joint Fact Finding Committee on Un-American Activities in California on July 13, 1944, stated that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization "has been supplying the Office of War Information, the Army, the Navy, the USO and the Red Cross" with publicity material.

According to Informant [redacted] this organization injected such phrases of Communist propaganda into its work as the demand for a second front, freedom for India, independence for Puerto Rico, racial equality and similar material which fostered the Communist Party program.

In May of 1942, the Los Angeles Office learned that the publication of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization known as the "Communique" was now captioned "Communique, Hollywood Writers Mobilization for Defense in Cooperation with -- OEM". The publication was being mailed under the official Government frank which read "Executive Office of the President, Office of Emergency Management, Washington, D.C., Official Business. Penalty for Private Use to Avoid Payment of Postage, $300 GPO. The Los Angeles Office obtained two copies of this publication, one dated April 10 1942, and the other dated April 17, 1942. The April 17, 1942 issue is maintained in the files of the Bureau.

Confidential Informant [REDACTED] of the Los Angeles Office reported the following information concerning the background of this set up. He related that the head of the radio section of OEM at Washington was Bernard Schoenfeld, who was a close friend of Garson Kanin, the individual in charge of the film section of OEM. Michael Kanin, a brother of Garson and Fay Kanin, the wife of Michael are writers who were connected with the League of American Writers. Garson Kanin, according to this source, went to Schoenfeld in Washington and told him that he, Kanin, had a brother and sister-in-law who were in Hollywood. He stated that they were talented in writing and that they were very anxious and willing to be of assistance in the OEM. As a result of these contacts, Fay Kanin was put to work on a radio project preparing information being put out by the OEM. After which, Michael Kanin appeared and suggested that they should get busy and contact the Hollywood League of American Writers and endeavor to have them prepare the information which was to be put out in the "Communique."

Mr. R. H. Washburne was contacted on October 13, 1942, at which time he advised that he was appointed by Bernard Schoenfeld of the Office of Emergency Management to be in charge of the Los Angeles Branch of the OEM, Information Division. He related that shortly thereafter he was contacted by Mrs. Fay Kanin, Michael Kanin, Ring Lardner, Jr. and others to discuss the means of obtaining the aid of certain film writers to publicize those things which the Office of Emergency Management, Information Division, wished to give publicity in order that correct information could be made known to the public by the best possible means. He stated that on this occasion the "Communique", an information letter, was decided upon as being the best method for this publicity.

Mr. Washburne related that he wrote a Mr. Robert Horton of the Office of Emergency Management, Washington, D.C., and obtained authority to publish the "Communique". The articles for the "Communique" were written by the committee which was composed of the aforementioned writers and others and were submitted to Mr. Washburne. Washburne related that he edited these articles which were then mimeographed, assembled and distributed by his staff to members of the Film Writers Guild. According to Washburne, the specific purpose of this information letter was to put information into the hands of the members of the Film Writers' Guild, with the idea that these persons would "spot it" in the production upon which they were working so that this information would be made available to the public and would give proper publicity to those things which the Office of Emergency Management felt should be publicized. Shortly after this committee was formed, Washburne stated that he was contacted by the Hollywood Writers Mobilization who informed him that their organization had been set up for just such a purpose and that therefore there was a duplication by the organization and the committee. Consequently he related, that the committee became a part of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. He stated that the first eight editions of the "Communique" were prepared on paper furnished by the Office of Emergency Management and were mimeographed by the Office of Emergency Management Staff. He also related that the first three editions of the "Communique" were mailed under the franking privilege.

In March of 1943 the publication "Variety" reported that the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs would make transcripts of Office of War Information - Hollywood Writers Mobilization radio programs for broadcast in foreign languages. The air show referred to was a radio program entitled "Free World Theatre Air Show", which was instituted and produced jointly by the Office of War Information and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. "Variety" also reflected that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization held a meeting of forty writers to supply ideas for this program under the Chairmanship of John Wexley, who has been identified as a Communist and whose Communist Party affiliations are set out in Section I of this memorandum. The Free World Theatre Program had such individuals connected with it as Jay Corney, Edward Eliscu and Henry Myers, writers of the propaganda musical comedy "Meet the People." These individuals likewise have been identified as Communists and their Communist connections are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

[REDACTED] of the Los Angeles Office advised that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization also wrote and produced a series of short propaganda plays for the OWI for use in industrial plants and Army camps. Those assisting in this phase of activity included well-known members of the League of American Writers, a Communist front group. In addition, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization worked closely with Nelson Poynter who, until July of 1943, was coordinator for Government films for OWI. [REDACTED] related that the production of these films was under the direct control and supervision of Poynter and that Poynter before accepting these films demanded a pro-Russian slant as a prerequisite to acceptance. He reported that Poynter associated himself with the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and worked closely with Communists Robert Rossen, Waldo Salt and Frank Tuttle, all of whom have been identified as Communists in Section I of this memorandum. Poynter's office was discontinued in July of 1943.

In conjunction with the University of California at Los Angeles the Hollywood Writers Mobilization jointly sponsored the Writers' Congress. Actually, according to [REDACTED] this Writers' Congress was the Fifth Congress of the League of American Writers but was not termed as such due to the fact that the League of American Writers had become publicly branded as a Communist dominated group. This Congress was held as scheduled and attended by some fifteen hundred writers from all over the United States. Informant [REDACTED] related that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization was the medium whereby the Communist control of the entire proceedings was established and maintained. He stated that the leading Communist writers were said to have attended and dominated every session.

The "Peoples World", a west coast Communist newspaper for June 10, 1944, reflected that arrangements were made between Robert Riskin, Chief of the Overseas Film Bureau of the OWI and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, whereby the screen writers would assume responsibility for the production and writing of all documentary films for overseas distribution. The program of films called for a "Projection of America" series and a new group of invasion films for distribution in Germany and the satellite countries.

The Hollywood Writers Mobilization, according to the article, had set up a working committee which was to consist of such well-known Communists as John Howard Lawson and Robert Rossen, identified in Section I of this memorandum. In addition, such prominent Communist sympathizers as Marc Connelly, Howard Estabrook, John Houseman, Talbot Jennings, Howard Koch and Harry Tugend, all of whom have been identified with Communist influenced or infiltrated groups previously in this memorandum were affiliated with this committee.

The August 7, 1944, issue of "Variety" reported that a program of eleven short subjects and five newreel bulletins had been arranged for production by the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. The article reflected that the films would be produced in various Hollywood studios with players from the Screen Actors' Guild and writers from the Hollywood Writers Mobilization.

The pictures planned to be produced included the following: "It's Murder," "The Story With Two Endings," "When He Comes Home," "So Far So Good", "Air Transport Command," and "World Peace Through World Trade." "It's Murder" was written by Henry Blankfort, who has been identified as a Communist. "The Story With Two Endings" was to be written by Harold Buchman and Lou Solomon, both of whom were identified as Communists. "When He Comes Home" was to be written by Paul Trivers. Trivers has also been identified as a Communist. "So Far So Good" was being written by Oscar Saul, also identified as a Communist. "World Peace Through World Trade" was to be written by Edward Eliscu, also identified as a Communist. All of the above individuals referred to as Communists have their Communist affiliations set out in Section I of this memorandum.

According to Informant [redacted] during the month of January, 1945, information was received that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, through its connection with the Office of War Information, had become a part of what was officially called the War Activities Committee, Hollywood Division. Other Organizations officially affiliated with the Committee were the Screen Writers' Guild, Screen Directors' Guild, Screen Actors' Guild, and other similar type groups.

According to Informant [redacted] in May of 1945, John Howard Lawson, one of the leading Communists in the motion picture industry, was appointed by the Hollywood Writers Mobilization to act as its representative as an observer at the United Nations Conference.

Confidential Informant [redacted] of the Los Angeles Office stated that during the spring of 1945 the work of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization in connection with the Office of War Information, Overseas Bureau, went into high gear as a result of a series of conferences between Robert Riskin, Chief of the Bureau for OWI, and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, Editorial Committee on Overseas Films. It should be pointed out that seven out of the fourteen members of the Editorial Committee were identified as Communists, including John Howard Lawson, Melvyn Levy, Richard Collins, Waldo Salt, Leonardo Bercovici, Arthur Birnkrant, and Sidney Buchman. The Communist affiliations of these individuals are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

Confidential Informant [redacted] related that beginning on May 21, 1945, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization was to produce a series of radio programs over the Blue Network dealing with problems of the returning soldiers. The Committee producing this has been described as one strongly under the influence of known Communists such as Louis Solomon.

Confidential Informant [redacted] related that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization has been active in supporting and participating in the activities of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, a Communist infiltrated and influenced organization. It also produced a quarterly magazine known as the "Hollywood Quarterly" in cooperation with the University of California at Los Angeles. Included as one of the editors of this publication was John Howard Lawson, one of the Communist Party leaders in the film industry. [redacted] related that other known Communists and Communist sympathizers were also affiliated with this publication in a lesser capacity.

Informant [redacted] related that in addition, this organization has shown Russian propaganda motion pictures at the Gordon Theatre in Los Angeles as well as at other independent theatres in the Los Angeles and Hollywood area. Other known Communist front groups have also participated in this type of activity.

Following the elimination of the Office of War Information as a Government agency, the Hollywood Writers Mobilization devoted its activities to the propaganda field through radio and publications. The official newspaper of the American Newspaper Guild in June of 1946 reflected that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization had rendered numerous war services, among which were the following:

|-------------------------------------|---|------|
| Documentary and short subject films | - | 210 |
| Radio scripts | - | 1069 |
| War activity feature stories | - | 125 |

Confidential Informant [redacted] related that this Communist controlled organization had narrowed its activities considerably, confining its functions primarily to the radio field.

A letterhead of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization dated January 8, 1947, reflected that there were 71 persons listed as members of the executive council of the organization as of that date. Twelve persons on the executive council have records of Communist membership and 5 of the members of the editorial board have also been identified as Communists. The report of the Joint Fact Finding Committee of the 56th California Legislature, 1945, reflects that in August of 1943, under the auspices of the University of California and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, a letter signed by Marc Connelly and Ralph Freud as Co-Chairman of the Congress Committee, announced the Writers Congress to be held at Royce Hall, University of Southern California at Los Angeles from October 1-3, 1943.

Confidential Informant [REDACTED] of the Los Angeles Office advised that while this Congress was not called the Fifth Writers Congress, it should have been called this due to the fact that many of the same individuals who were in charge of directing the activities of the First, Second, Third and Fourth Writers Congresses were also in charge of directing the affairs of this one.

The report of the Joint Fact Finding Committee of the 56th California Legislature, 1945, reflects that a superficial investigation of this Congress disclosed its Communist inspiration and guidance. Lincoln Community Book Center, also known as Lincoln Book Shop

The records of the Los Angeles County Clerk's Office in Los Angeles, California, reflect that on July 16, 1943, Eugene Reed, Hollywood, California, had the name of The Lincoln Book Shop filed as a fictitious business name. Reed indicated that he intended to operate the business alone. The August 7, 1943 issue of the "Daily People's World," west coast Communist newspaper contained a feature article revealing that the Lincoln Book Shop would open at 1721 North Highland Avenue, on August 8, 1943. The shop was to be operated by Jack and Jessie Reed. Through a most reliable and very delicate source on August 31, 1944, it was ascertained that Eugene Reed was a Communist and a member of the Communist Political Association in Los Angeles.

Information was obtained through this same source on January 15, 1945, that Eugene John Reed and Jessica Reed were members of the Communist Political Association in the Northwest Section thereof. The report of the Joint Fact Finding Committee of the California Legislature on Un-American Activities for 1947 reflects that in September 1943, the Lincoln Book Shop had been designated by the Los Angeles County Communist Party for the sale of Communist literature to the clubs of the Communist area located in the Hollywood area.

The records of the County Clerk's Office in Los Angeles reflect that on March 5, 1945 the Articles of Incorporation of a group known as the Lincoln Community Book Center, a non-profit, non-stock membership group were filed with the Secretary of State in California. The purpose and object of the group was to educate the people of Hollywood. The persons executing the Articles of Incorporation included:

Samuel Freeman of 1962 Glencoe Way, Hollywood, California. Freeman was identified as a Communist on February 7, 1944 through information obtained from [redacted] who furnished information [redacted] on the Communist Party in Hollywood.

Elizabeth Glenn of 1604 1/2 North Harvard, Los Angeles. Elizabeth Glenn has been reported by Confidential Informant [redacted] Communist Party, as the present financial director of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.

Emily Gordon who resides at 1056 1/2 North Oxford, Los Angeles, California. Gordon was identified as the County literature director of the Communist Party and the Communist Political Association in 1944 and part of 1945, by Confidential Informant [redacted]

[redacted] This same informant revealed that in August of 1945, Gordon was nominated for the State Committee of the Communist Party but was not elected inasmuch as other leading comrades criticized her for being bureaucratic. Through the information obtained from [redacted] a paid reliable informant of the Los Angeles Office who furnished [redacted] Communist Party in Los Angeles, it was ascertained that on April 21, 1947, Gordon had been dropped from the membership because of a "right opportunist disagreement".

During June 1946, Confidential Informant [redacted] the Los Angeles Office advised that the officers now serving on behalf of the Lincoln Community Book Center were John Howard Lawson, President; Waldo Salt, Vice President and Miriam Logan, secretary. The Communist background of both Lawson and Salt, who are screen writers in Hollywood has been set out in Section I of this memorandum. Miriam Logan, the secretary, was identified as a member of the Communist Party at San Pedro, California from June 1944 until December of 1946 by [redacted] a member of the Communist Party who is an informant of the Los Angeles Office.

Confidential Informant [redacted] of the Los Angeles Office, who is a functionary of the Communist Party in that area, advised that from 1945 through April 1947, the Lincoln Book Shop was the outlet of Marxist and Communist literature in Hollywood, California and that all clubs of the Hollywood Section Communist Party purchased literature at that store.

This same informant advised on May 1, 1945, that this book center was closed because of its poor financial condition. He stated that as of July 1947, the Communist Party does not maintain a book shop in the Hollywood area indicating that the Communist subsections in the Hollywood area presently obtain their literature from the home of Clarence L. Ricklefs, 984 Palm Avenue, Los Angeles.

Nicklefs is literature director for the Community Subsection, Hollywood Section of the Communist Party.

The Motion Picture Democratic Committee

The "Studio Call" official organ of the Conference of Motion Picture Arts and Crafts, for June 30, 1938, stated that the Democratic Committee was a progressive political organization which should have the support of every employee of the motion picture industry. A full page advertisement appearing in this paper gave the aims of the Motion Picture Democratic Committee as follows:

1. To support and extend the New Deal nationally; to bring a new deal to California.
2. To remove from office all those officials who have made the government of California a government by the corporations.
3. To effect and maintain complete political freedom within the motion picture industry.
4. To aid in uniting all progressive forces within the Democratic Party, convinced that a liberal victory can be achieved at this time only by working within the Democratic Party.
5. To cooperate with all groups and persons who are working to re-establish democracy in the State, and oppose all movements which tend to split the progressive forces in California.
6. To support those candidates who on the basis of their records are best qualified to forward these aims.

Eugene Lyons on page 289 of his book, "The Red Decade" stated: "The Motion Picture Democratic Committee, a front for Stalinist fund raising, had no trouble rounding up seventeen hundred members." Rene M. Vale, an admitted Communist, in 1940 made a sworn statement in which she stated that perhaps the most bazaar flourish given to the Olsen for Governor campaign was provided by the fresh ideas and naive politics of the Motion Picture Democratic Committee, called by those who still ventured to express their dislike of "Hollywood-itis." The Motion Picture Democratic Committee was conceived and delivered by the Los Angeles County Political Commission of the Communist Party in the spring of 1938, in the home of Al Lane, 3939 Denker Avenue.

Confidential Informant [REDACTED] of the Los Angeles Office, referred to the August 1935 speech of George Dimitrov, head of the Communist International, as the famous "Trojan Horse" speech. Announcing the "united front" program of the Communist Party, he stated that as a part of this program the period known as the "popular front" was brought about with the August 23, 1939 signing of the Hitler-Stalin Pact. He related that many of these fronts which were formed during this period were established to influence and support the foreign policy of the Soviet Union. He referred to the "collective security" proposal and that the Communists everywhere were instructed to drop all revolutionary ideas and pose as liberals taking part in all established government affairs. He stated that in the United States they were instructed for voting purposes, to support the candidates of the Democratic Party. He related that they were to assume a "liberal" position and work to get themselves into any positions in political circles where they could use their positions and influence to create and gain support for the policies of the Soviet Union. [redacted] related that in following this line and this policy, the Communists in the Hollywood motion picture industry set up the Motion Picture Democratic Committee. He related that during the year 1938, this organization was going full force and was a very influential group in California and particularly in the Hollywood area. However with the signing of the Hitler-Stalin Pact, he stated that the Hollywood Motion Picture Democratic Committee changed its line shortly thereafter, at which time it began calling the President a "war monger" and that he was dragging the United States into the "imperialistic" war.

Early in 1940, according to Informant [redacted] the Motion Picture Democratic Committee was working in cooperation with the American peace crusades and sponsored peace meetings throughout Southern California. He stated that the organization issued a "newsletter" dated March 26, 1940, calling attention to a "knock-out script" written by Michael Blankfort, Jerome Chodorov, Joseph Fields, Paul Trivers, Carl Dreher, Cyril Kramer and okayed by the Hollywood Peace Council. This was to be presented at a rally at the Olympic Stadium on April 6, 1940 under the banner, "America Declares Peace."

According to [redacted] this was the last meeting at which the Motion Picture Democratic Committee actively participated. In the publication "Red Fascism" compiled by Jack Tenney, California State Senator and Chairman of the California Joint Fact Finding Committee of the 56th California Legislature, information is set out that the following persons were officers of the Motion Picture Democratic Committee in 1939 and 1940. The official stationery of this organization also reflects the same data.

Maurice Murphy, Harold Buchman, Herbet K. Sorrell, Norval Crutcher, and Frank Tuttle have been identified as being affiliated with the Communist Party either past or present and their Communist connections are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

Philip Dunne

Philip Dunne, as reported in an affidavit given by Rene Vale, a former member of the Communist Party before the Assembly Fact Finding Committee on Un-American Activities in California, on November 9, 1942, was a screen writer and representative of the Motion Picture Democratic Committee, as well as a member of the Los Angeles County Political Commission of the Communist Party.

Maurice Thomas Murphy

Murphy, according to [REDACTED] California, was an actor for 19 years. He has been treated for epilepsy since 1935. Through a most reliable but very delicate source, Murphy was identified on May 19, 1947, as a member of the Northwest Section of the Hollywood Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party.

Gordon Rigby

The Hollywood trade magazine "Variety" for September 12, 1945, reflected that Lieutenant Colonel Gordon Rigby retired from the Army after 4 years of service with the Signal Corp. The "Variety" also reflected that he was a veteran of World War I and an ex Hollywood writer and director at Columbia Studios. According to a most reliable but very delicate source Gordon Rigby, on August 31, 1944, was a member of the Communist Political Association, Northwest Section, Los Angeles, California, who had been on special leave from the Communist Party since before December of 1942.

Hollywood Democratic Committee

The Hollywood Democratic Committee, according to Confidential Informant [REDACTED] was set up in January 1943. The aims and purposes of this organization were shown by a circular issued at the time of the organization meeting held on January 14, 1943. They were as follows:

1. To support national, state and local legislation essential to victory in war.
2. To clarify political issues in relation to the war effort, and to promote discussion and education for this purpose.
3. To support candidates who are best fitted to serve a nation at war and who seek office on a "win-the-war" platform.
4. To cooperate with other organizations in Los Angeles and throughout the state and nation, whose aims are similar to our own.

Confidential Informant [redacted] in referring to this new organization, stated that for all intents and purposes it was nothing but the revival of the Motion Picture Democratic Committee previously discussed in this section of this memorandum. According to [redacted] the activities of the Hollywood Democratic Committee during the time of its existence coincided with the line of the Communist Political Association, which was "collaboration with capitalism" because of the needs of the Soviet Union for assistance. On September 25, 1943, Informant [redacted] related that the activities of this organization were confined largely to the open political field, such as putting pressure on law makers, local and national, and to have legislation passed which was either sponsored or supported by the Communist element in the United States, particularly in the Hollywood area. He stated that this pressure was exerted in two ways, (1) by forming delegations to visit law makers in an attempt to intimidate them, and (2) by a campaign of written propaganda circulated among labor unions and other organizations and the setting up of "committees of correspondence," the purpose of which was to flood the Congress with letters demanding the passage of measures which fell in line with the program of the Communist Party at that time.

On July 26, 1944, letterheads and literature issued by the Hollywood Democratic Committee reflected the following persons were elected officers for the coming year.

|--------------------|---------------|
| Marc Connelly | Chairman |
| John Cromwell | Vice Chairman |
| Gene Kelly | Vice Chairman |
| E. Y. Harburg | Vice Chairman |
| Norval D. Crutcher | Secretary |
| Albert Dekker | Treasurer |

This same literature reflected that the organization had an executive board of 88 members. Of this number 22 have been identified as Communists through information obtained by the Los Angeles Office, through a most reliable but very delicate source. Of the 22 known Communists, the following individuals whose Communist Party affiliations are set out in Section I of this memorandum, have been identified with the motion picture industry.

|-------------------------|----------------------------|
| Margaret Bennett Wills | Mrs. Nora Hellgren |
| Herbert Biberman | Rex Ingram |
| Henry Blankfort | Donald Key King |
| Sidney Robert Buchman | John Howard Lawson |
| Norval Dixon Crutcher | Barbara Alexander Myers |
| Edward Dmytryk | Samuel Badisch Ornitz |
| Edward McCreary Gilbert | Mortimer William Pomerance |
| Donald Alexander Gordon | Herbert K. Sorrell |
| Louis Harris | |

In addition to the above listed Communists it was also known that such prominent Communist Party figures in the motion picture industry as Frank Tuttle, motion picture director, were also active in this group. It has also been reported by Confidential Informant [redacted] that John Garfield, the pro-Communist actor, was associated with this group. Garfield has been identified by [redacted] as a member of the Communist Party. Garfield also, according to informant [redacted] has been affiliated with the Young Communist League, the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League both of which were Communist front groups.

During 1944 the Hollywood Democratic Committee grew to be one of the most important political groups in Southern California, according to Confidential Informant [redacted]. He reported that this was primarily due to its connection with the motion picture industry and the prestige derived therefrom.

This organization continued its political activities in the 1944 elections and announced that it was to become a permanent group, cooperating with and supporting the Political Action Committee and other progressive groups in politics.

On January 25, 1945, the "Daily Worker" carried an article reflecting that 100 Hollywood leaders sent a wire to President Roosevelt, requesting him to terminate the proceedings against Harry Bridges. The article reflected that the action was taken at a dinner sponsored by the Hollywood Democratic Committee. Among the signers of this telegram were Communists and many individuals who have supported the Communist movement in Hollywood. This article reflected that John Howard Lawson, writer; Jack Moss, producer; and Dalton Trumbo, writer, all known Communists in Hollywood, were among the signers of this communication. These individuals identified as Communists above are referred to in Section I, where their Communist affiliations are set out.

On June 6, 1945, in Hollywood, California, a meeting was called by the Hollywood Democratic Committee, at which time the name of this group was changed by unanimous decision to the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions

The Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, a now defunct organization, was formed under the influence of Communists and Communist sympathizers and was supported throughout its existence by the Communists and the Communist press. Benjamin J. Davis, Jr., a member of the National Committee of the Communist Party, on August 11, 1945, read recommendations to the New York State Convention of the Communist Party of those individuals who had been nominated for the New York State Committee. Concerning Lionel Berman, Davis stated, "Comrade Berman, a Communist Party functionary, is Jewish and a member of the old State Committee.....I would say, (he) is the head of the Cultural Section of the Party.....It seems to me that in his work in the past, particularly in the elections when he was one of those instrumental in setting up the Independent Citizens Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions, he has demonstrated a very excellent capacity for organization of a very excellent political character." This information was obtained through [REDACTED] State Convention.

[REDACTED] advised on April 4, 1946, that the organization of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions by the Communist Party was directed and planned [REDACTED] in 1944, by Lionel Berman of the Communist Party Cultural Section, and Joseph Field of the Workers Library Publishing Company. He also advised that this organization was a Communist controlled group in spite of the fact that the majority of the membership was not Communist and a minority of the Communists were directing it.

With regard to the Hollywood Chapter of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, Confidential Informant [REDACTED] of the Los Angeles Office, related that a meeting was called of the members of the Hollywood Democratic Committee at the American Legion Hall in Hollywood on June 6, 1945. He stated that at this meeting approximately 360 individuals were in attendance and believed to be members of the Hollywood Democratic Committee.

W. Emmett Lavery, President of the Screen Writers Guild, concerning whom information is set out under the Screen Writers Guild in this memorandum, was chairman of the meeting. He related that Herman Shunlin a motion picture producer, who has been affiliated with a long line of Communist organizations was present and proposed that the new organization which was known as the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions affiliate with the National organization called the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. According to [REDACTED] John Howard Lawson led the Communist elements in this meeting. He stated that the ballot which had been previously selected was voted on as a mere formality and many of the members of the executive committee of the Hollywood Democratic Committee were elected and continued as members of the executive committee of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

Confidential Informant [redacted] stated, with regard to this change in name and apparent change in complexion of the organization, that it was due to the fact that the Communist Party line had changed. He stated that from June 1945 until February 11, 1947, the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions had followed those of the Communist Party in the economic and political fields. He related that during the existence of this organization, it was the principal pressure group using the prestige and influence of the Hollywood motion picture industry to support legislation endorsed by the Communist Party and its sympathizers. A dodger stamped September 11, 1945, which is in the possession of the Los Angeles Office reflected that there were 98 members of the executive council of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. Of this number 14 have been identified as Communists through the most reliable but very delicate sources. These individuals are listed below and their Communist connections are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

Louis Harris
John Howard Lawson

Earl Hawley Robinson
Frank Wright Tuttle

of the first organizations to most vigorously attack the President's proposal for aid to Greece and Turkey, as did the Communist Party. Also this organization joined with the Civil Rights Congress, a national front organization, in protesting against the city authorities of Peoria, Illinois, and Albany, New York, who failed to permit Paul Robeson to speak in the public schools. Former California State Attorney General Robert W. Kenny has been identified as co-chairman of the Progressive Citizens of America. He also, according to [REDACTED] was affiliated with the National Win the Peace Conference and a member of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

Singer Paul Robeson has been identified as having been active in the American Peace Mobilization, the National Win the Peace Conference, and the Council of African Affairs by Informant [REDACTED]

The above referred to organizations are discussed in this section of the memorandum, with the exception of the Council of African Affairs, a Communist influenced group.

The Progressive Citizens of America on May 9, 1947, issued an ultimatum printed in the "Daily Variety", Hollywood trade publication, protesting the investigations being conducted by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and defending the rights of the Communist Party in the United States.

Confidential Informant [redacted] related that the Progressive Citizens of America held a meeting for Henry A. Wallace in the Gilmore Stadium on the night of May 19, 1947. According to the "Daily People's World," West Coast Communist newspaper on May 21, 1947, 30,000 people were in attendance. According to [redacted] a collection was taken up at this meeting for the support of the PCA and the sum of approximately $86,000 was realized. He stated that a number of Hollywood celebrities including Charles Chaplin, Edward G. Robinson and Paul Henreid were among the large contributors.

According to Informant [redacted] the Progressive Citizens of America established a division in Hollywood on June 13, 1947 at a meeting called by Rose Hobart, screen actress; John Garfield, actor, Paul Draper, actor; and Anne Fervers, screen actress. According to [redacted] this unit is to be known as the Hollywood Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of the PCA. Its chairman is John Crowell, screen director and the group executive director is George Pepper. The purpose of this Council, according to [redacted] is to participate in all local political affairs, elections and projects which the national PCA group endorses and supports. The Communist affiliations of Garfield, Fervers and Pepper have been previously set out as have the affiliations of Crowell with Communist infiltrated or influenced organizations.

This council published a brochure in early July of 1947 announcing that a conference on the subject of thought control in the United States was to be held at the Beverly Hills Hotel from July 9-13, 1947 under the auspices of the Progressive Citizens of America. This brochure announced that "in recent months an increasing number of incidents have occurred, indicating an unhealthy tendency in our national life—a tendency to prevent freedom of individual expression which had always been the guarantee of our democratic culture. This conference has been called in order to document and examine these incidents separately and as part of a majority tendency. If such a tendency does exist and continues to develop unchallenged, it can lead in only one direction-- biased control of the thought patterns of all the American people."

The opening session of this conference which was attended by Agents of the Los Angeles Office was addressed by John Howard Lawson, leading Communist Screen writer in the motion picture industry whose Communist Party affiliations are set out in Section I of this memorandum, Lawson commenced his remarks by mentioning that various individuals had recently accused Henry Wallace of giving Europe a false impression of America by saying that America is not imperialistic and has no imperialist aims. In his speech Lawson reviewed the historic struggles of progressive forces and individuals throughout United States history and also pointed out the imperialistic actions in its past and present foreign policy. The keynote speaker of the opening sessions was Norman Corwin, who according to Informant [REDACTED] is so close to the Party that it would be difficult to say he is not a member and who [REDACTED] has heard discussed favorably by Communist Party officers on numerous occasions in connection with the Communist Party program of infiltration in the motion picture industry. Corwin in his address condemned the war psychosis being put upon the people today and also condemned the activities of such groups as the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the Tenney Committee, which is the California State Un-American Activities Committee and the Hearst Press.

At the final session of the conference on thought control held on the evening of July 13, 1947, Robert Kenny, an executive of the PCA stated that the organization stands "for nationalization of public utilities, the coal industry, the steel industry and any other industry where nationalization would advance the common good." Kenny stated frequently that free enterprise was not working and that those proponents of this economy should admit this and reach for new solutions to the changing economic problems of our complex system. Prior to the adjournment of the conference, resolutions were adopted including the signing of a letter to the President advising him of the vicious type of thought control existing in the United States and that thought control evidenced a trend toward fascism. The resolution advocated the abolition of the Un-American Activities Committee and the abandonment of the Truman Doctrine. It further called for the discontinuing of the loyalty test recently instituted by the Federal Government.

Through [REDACTED] it was ascertained that George Pepper and Waldo Salt, who have previously been identified as Communists in Hollywood, had charge of all the arrangements for this thought control conference. In addition the program reflects that the following individuals, who have previously been identified as Communists either in Section I or Section III in connection with the various Communist front organizations active in the Hollywood area, participated actively in this program.

Hollywood Anti-Nazi League

The Hollywood Anti-Nazi League was set up in the motion picture industry for the purpose of defending America's democratic rights against Nazi influence. The organization had among its original officers such well-known Communists as Herbert Biberman, director, and Gale Sondergaard, actress. The Communist Party affiliations of these individuals are set out in Section I. Following the Hitler-Stalin Pact and the consequent change in the Communist Party line from opposition to Fascism to a program of general isolation, the organization was liquidated.

Hollywood League for Democratic Action

According to Informant [REDACTED] the Hollywood League for Democratic Action was made up of the same people who were active in the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League although its activities were just the reverse of the Anti-Nazi League because of the change in the Communist Party program. Many of the leading people in this organization were also identified with the Communist Party, such as Dalton Trumbo, Frank Tuttle and John Wexley. The Communist Party affiliations of these individuals are set out in Section I of this memorandum. This organization dropped out of the picture with the coming of the American Peace Mobilization.

The American Peace Mobilization

This organization was a national Communist front group which, in Hollywood, was under the leadership of Herbert Biberman. Other known Communists active in this movement were John Howard Lawson, Dalton Trumbo, Frank Tuttle and Guy Endore. The Communist Party affiliations of these individuals are set out in Section I. Many of the so-called "intellectuals" who had been active in Communist front movements in Hollywood were also active in supporting the American Peace Mobilization. Probably one of the most prominent of these so-called "intellectuals" was Donald Ogden Stewart, a member of the League of American Writers, International Labor Defense, Screen Writers Guild, and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, according to Confidential Informant [REDACTED].

The Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee

Informant [REDACTED] related that from 1937 on, during the period of the Spanish Revolution, numerous Communist front groups were formed in the United States to assist the Communist cause in Spain. Prominent among these groups were the Spanish Refugee Ship Mission, the Medical Bureau to Aid Spanish Democracy, Spanish Refugee Relief Campaign, Friends of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, Hollywood Committee for Writers in Exile, and the United American Spanish Aid Committee. These groups had found membership and support among the intellectual group in the Hollywood area. The remnants of these groups were consolidated together with the formation of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee. This organization, a Communist influenced group, was said to be interested only in those refugees whose political opinions coincided with those who were in control of the Committee.

[REDACTED] Communist Party Headquarters on January 5, 1944, there was made available an official directive from the "National Org. Dept." addressed to "Dear Comrades." This directive which was dated April 13, 1943 stated in part:

"The Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee has undertaken the patriotic duty of organizing a mass campaign for the release and rehabilitation of anti-Fascist refugees in North America.....Comrade Browder placed this question as one of paramount concern to America.... We are therefore suggesting that your State Executive Committee discuss how the Y.C.L. can effectively participate in this campaign.....and would also be well if every district made a contribution to work of this committee.....We are sending you under separate cover publicity petitions and post cards....."

From [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] it was ascertained on February 16, 1945, that Felix Kusman of the national office of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee and Marian Owens of the San Francisco Chapter of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee met with Carl Winter, at that time President of the Los Angeles County Communist Political Association, regarding the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee policy. Carl Winter summarized the decisions made at this meeting as follows:

1. Consolidation of the Los Angeles and Hollywood offices of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee should be effected.
2. An executive committee should be established.
3. Closer relations with War Veterans should be effected.

The following officers, past and present of the Los Angeles Branch of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee are known Communists:

One Helen Manfield Fischer at present is executive secretary of the Los Angeles Branch of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, having held this position since at least April 7, 1942. Informant [REDACTED] Communist Party Headquarters in Los Angeles produced data reflecting that Fischer on October 26, 1943, was listed as a guest to be invited to the Los Angeles County Communist Convention held October 30, 31, 1943 in Los Angeles. She was listed as a guest from Branch E (Cartoonists of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party). This data was further confirmed by information received from a most reliable but very delicate source on November 16, 1943, which reflected that she was a member of the Communist Party.

According to the information obtained from [REDACTED] who [REDACTED] Communist Party headquarters, the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee since January 5, 1945 has opened the "Spanish Refugee Appeal." The letterheads of this "Spanish Refugee Appeal" of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee list among others 14 individuals from the motion picture industry of whom the following are known Communists and their Communist connections are set out in Section I of this memorandum:

Canada Lee
Albert Maltz
Karen Morley

Robert Rossen
Dalton Trumbo

An example of the fund raising activities of this group, Confidential Informant [redacted] of the Los Angeles Office, who is a Communist Party member, advised on May 19, 1945 that the women's division of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee held a Spanish Refugee Appeal luncheon at the Beverly Hills Hotel on May 2, 1945. The sponsors of this luncheon included the following persons identified with the motion picture industry, according to this source:

The following Hollywood personalities have appeared as headliners for the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee in the Los Angeles functions of this group:

The Actors Laboratory

The Actors Laboratory, according to Confidential Informant [redacted] is a Communist controlled institution where screen and stage acting is purportedly taught by directors, actors and writers affiliated with the motion picture industry. He stated that this school was formerly located in New York City under the name of the Group Theatre. The Group Theatre was said to be affiliated with the New Theatre League, an alleged Communist venture. He related that the New Theatre League, from about 1932 until 1938, was a propaganda agency making use of the stage as a medium which was successful in turning out actors who later served the Communist movement in the United States. He reported that the Actors Laboratory cooperates with such organizations as the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and formerly the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

The certificate of incorporation of this organization filed in the County Clerk's Office in Los Angeles reflects the following aims and purposes of this organization:

- "1. To conduct classes for study of theatre arts, acting, dancing, stage craft, play writing, radio acting and performing.
2. To conduct classes in the study of analysis of contemporary plays, moving pictures and radio programs.
3. To produce and present dramatic material such as plays, review and radio programs, for the purpose of informing and educating the members of the public.
4. To conduct social affairs deemed to be for the benefit and interest of the members of this corporation."

Through a most reliable but very delicate source, information contained in a report prepared by Elizabeth Leach, organizer of the Northwest Section of the Los Angeles County Communist Party Political Association, was obtained on January 16, 1945, from which the following is quoted:

"To provide a center for professional actors to experiment with and develop their acting technique, to provide a means by which professional actors can render greater war service; and a school.

"The laboratory has quite an extensive camp show program which has now expanded to include overseas units and hospital shows. It is now presenting weekly a program of one act plays to finance the war service program which have been very favorably reviewed in the press. There are very serious weaknesses in relation to the political content of the material presented by the laboratory. (Tendencies toward estheticism, pessimism) and some of the weaknesses of the group theater have been carried over since many of the leading figures of the laboratory are from the group."

[REDACTED] 20th Century Fox Studios, furnished the names of the executive board members of the Actors Laboratory as of April 7, 1947. There were 19 names shown on this list. Out of this number 11 have records of Communist activities and membership. | Art Smith | Morris Carnovsky |
| Abraham L. Polonsky | Hy Kraft |

Jack Bragin, also one of the executive board members is an attorney whose practice is confined to the motion picture field. According to a most reliable and very delicate source of information, he has also been identified as a Communist.

According to [REDACTED] there are 11 members of the faculty of the school of the Actors Laboratory. Of these 11 members the actress Jacobina Caro and actress Phoebe Brand are Communists and their Communist Party affiliations are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

The American Youth for Democracy

The American Youth for Democracy, a nationally known Communist youth movement, has received the support of many Communists and Communist sympathizers in the Hollywood area. The Communist Party affiliations of these individuals are set out in Section I.

Citizens Committee for the Motion Picture Strikers

This organization, according to Confidential Informant [redacted] was set up for the purpose of aiding the strike in the motion picture industry which occurred in March of 1945. This strike developed as a result of a jurisdictional dispute between the Conference of Studio Unions and the IATSE and was discussed under the section headed "Conference of Studio Unions." He stated that this Committee was under Communist control and that it was made up of individuals who were active in such Communist front groups in Hollywood as the Hollywood Writers Mobilization and the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee, as well as the Screen Writers' Guild. The National Committee to Win the Peace

Confidential Informant [redacted] related that this organization came into existence in Hollywood on May 12, 1946, and was sponsored by many individuals who have previously been affiliated with the Communist movement through various front organizations. In this connection, it should be pointed out that the National Committee to Win the Peace is known to have been promulgated and supported by the Communist Party, its press and supporters. The Los Angeles meeting held on May 12, 1946, referred to above, was under the guidance of Communist William Powerance, Executive Secretary of the Screen Writer's Guild, and Communist sympathizer Willis J. Hill, President of the People's Educational Center. The Communist infiltration and influence in these two groups have been discussed in this section of the memorandum.

The Hollywood Forum

The Hollywood Forum, according to Informant [REDACTED] was held under the auspices of the "Daily People's World," West Coast Communist newspaper. This group, devoted to the discussion of Communism or Communist propaganda, was under the control of many Communists and Communist sympathizers affiliated with the motion picture industry. Individuals who have been active in this group include Waldo Salt, Sam Ornitz, John Howard Lawson, and Alvah Bessie, all of whom have been identified as Communists. Their Communist Party affiliations are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

John Barnes and Associates

In August of 1946 Confidential Informant [REDACTED] related that this organization was a recently formed "public relations"-type group which had announced that its functions were to "see that liberal, progressive commentators such as are listed as supporting the organization, are kept on the air as an antidote to the radio prostitutes who put their personal well-being above that of their fellow Americans....." Among the persons listed as supporting this group who are directly or indirectly connected with the Hollywood Film Industry are: Averill Berman, radio commentator who was a member of the Executive Council of the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee for the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, and Peter DeLima, radio commentator who has been connected with the Progressive Citizens of America as well as the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. All of these organizations mentioned above have been subjected to Communist infiltration or influence. Confidential Informant [REDACTED] reported that also listed as supporting this venture were businessmen in Los Angeles, all of whom lean toward the Communist position.

Western Council for Progressive Business, Labor and Agriculture

Confidential Informant [REDACTED] has related that this is also a pressure-type organization in the Hollywood Section which cooperates with John Barnes and Associates. This group, according to [REDACTED] is obviously a Communist pressure group because of the names given as supporting it. Some of them are: Paul Robeson, Bartley C. Crum, and Robert W. Kenny. The Communist affiliations of Kenny and Robeson are previously set out in this section of this memorandum. Concerning Bartley C. Crum, the Washington Daily News for September 4, 1946, reflected that Crum was Vice-President of the American Committee for Spanish Freedom, a sponsor of the American Youth for Democracy, an initiating sponsor of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, and a Vice-President of the National Lawyers Guild. All of the above groups have been infiltrated or were under the influence of Communists or Communist sympathizers.

The American-Russian Institute

Confidential Informant ██████ stated in March of this year that the American-Russian Institute opened an office at 6607 Hollywood Boulevard. It should be pointed out that the American-Russian Institute is a Soviet propaganda-type organization which acts as a dissemination center for Russian propaganda in Hollywood. Alvah Bessie, writer, identified in Section I as a Communist, and Lewis Milestone, who has been reported by Informant ██████ as having been a member of the Hollywood Democratic Committee, the League of American Writers and the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, have been affiliated with this organization. Additional information concerning the American-Russian Institute is also set out in this summary under the section captioned, "Soviet Activities in Hollywood."

The Civil Rights Congress

The Civil Rights Congress is a national Communist front organization formed as the result of the merger of the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties, International Labor Defense, and the Michigan Civil Rights Federation. The International Labor Defense was an organization under the influence of Communists and Communist sympathizers, and the other two above mentioned organizations were declared subversive by the Attorney General in that they came within the purview of the Hatch Act. The Civil Rights Congress has been active in smear-type activities directed at the Department of Justice and the Bureau. For example, the "Milwaukee Journal" on September 7, 1946, reflected that a letter had been sent by the Milwaukee Chapter of the Civil Rights Congress to the President of the United States, asking for the removal of Attorney General Tom Clark and Director John Edgar Hoover for failing to bring the lynchers to justice. In addition, this organization has been very active in fighting the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill, defending the civil rights of Gerhardt Eisler and denouncing all efforts to outlaw the Communist Party. This organization has received the support of such well known Communists in the motion picture industry as Ring Lardner, Jr., who has been carried as a member of the National Board of the Civil Rights Congress. The Communist Party affiliations of Ring Lardner, Jr., are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

Southern Conference for Human Welfare

The Southern Conference for Human Welfare, a national Communist front movement, which has been described by Earl Browder as a transmission belt used by the Party for the dissemination of its propaganda, received the support of the motion picture industry, primarily through the efforts of Melvyn Douglas, husband of Helen Cahagan Douglas, who has been affiliated with such groups as the Hollywood Democratic Committee in an executive capacity. This affiliation of Melvyn Douglas is set out in the Jack Tenney Un-American Activities report for the State of California to the 55th California Legislature. He mailed out letters soliciting funds under his own signature.

The National Negro Congress

Included among the Communists who have supported this organization is Frank Tuttle who has been identified in Section I as a Communist. In addition, Lewis Milestone, previously identified in this section of the memorandum, together with others who have supported the Communist front movement, supported this organization.

IV. COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN MOTION PICTURES

As a preface to this section, it should be pointed out that it has not been a function of this Bureau to review motion picture productions for political content for it was not believed that the Bureau's representatives are experts in this field nor was it believed that censorship of motion pictures was within the purview of the activities of the Bureau. Our investigation of Communism in Hollywood has for the most part been directed toward the investigation of the individual Communists, Communist front organizations, Communist infiltration of the labor groups and the general activities of the Communist Party in the Los Angeles area. However, in conjunction with our investigations, reports have been received from Confidential Informants and other sources concerning the tactics used by the Communists in their attempt to influence motion pictures and actual examples of Communist propaganda in motion picture films. This data will be set out in this section.

Background and Tactics Used by the Communists to Inject Communist Propaganda in the Motion Pictures

As has been pointed out in Section I of this memorandum, an article in the Daily Worker for August 15, 1925, was written by Willy Muenzenberg, the German Communist propagandist, in which he quotes Vladimir Ilitch Lenin as stating with regard to the motion picture:

"You must powerfully develop film production, taking especially the proletarian kino (motion picture theatres) to the city masses, in still a much greater extent to the village. You must always consider that of all the arts the motion picture is for us the most important."

Likewise Muenzenberg quoted Gregory E. Zinoviev, the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Communist International in 1925, as stating:

"The motion picture in the possession of the bourgeoisie is the strongest means for the portrayal and befuddling of the masses. In our hands, it can and must become a mighty weapon of Communist propaganda and further enlightenment of the widest working masses."

With the preceding quotations set out to show the importance placed upon the motion picture by leaders of the Communist International, it is readily understandable how in 1935 the top structure of the Communist Party, USA, according to Confidential Informant [redacted] of the Los Angeles Office, set down instructions to the Communist Party in the Los Angeles area to concentrate their activities on the motion picture industry, specifically requesting that they concentrate on the so-called intellectual groups which are composed of directors, writers, actors and high-paid technicians.

According to [redacted] the Communist Party has continued its program of concentrating on the writers and directors in the motion picture industry for the purpose of injecting propaganda into the motion pictures. These writers and directors are in a position in the creative field to determine the content of the picture. The writer who creates a dialogue and the director who interprets the same are in a position to influence political feeling contained in any given picture. For this reason, [redacted] has stated, the political views and background of the writer and director in the motion picture industry are utilized to the fullest extent by the Communist Party. This has resulted in the infiltration of known Communists and fellow travelers into the writers' and directors' groups.

[redacted] has related that World War II permitted those writers and directors who acted under Communist guidance to insert sequences and episodes into a picture in a most clever manner. For this reason, he related, the Communist apparatus in the motion picture industry has been most successful, having placed in the majority of war pictures those writers and directors who were in sympathy with the cause of Communism. [redacted] stated that the crowning achievement in this respect was the picture "Mission to Moscow".

[redacted] has related that this picture raised such a controversy throughout the United States it was necessary that the Communist technique be changed. He related that the Communists then decided that the Communist writers and directors must become more subtle. He stated they are now content to insert a line, a sentence or a situation carrying the Communist Party line into an otherwise non-political picture, having found that this method is more effective by reason of the fact that it does not appear to be purposeful but just incidental. He related that this subtle method of getting propaganda into the pictures was not restricted to war-type pictures or serious drama. He stated that the Communist message was also conveyed in the so-called "musicals".

He also related the Communists, in influencing the production of these pictures, do not only direct their efforts at injecting propaganda into the pictures, but also prevent all material that the Party might consider objectionable to its current program from appearing in pictures. It has been reported that on several instances the Communist element has actually prevented the making of certain pictures.

Among the pictures of this type, according to [redacted] was "Uncle Tom's Cabin", written from the book by Harriet Beecher Stowe. Production of this picture was particularly attacked by elements of the Communist Party due to the fact that it was felt that the picture did not reflect a proper attitude on the part of the negroes. As a result of this pressure, this picture was withdrawn. Another picture, "The Life of Eddie Rickenbacker" met similar pressure. The Communist Party objected to him because of his expressed political opinions regarding labor. He was labeled as a Fascist, a Nazi sympathizer, a reactionary and an isolationist. Pressure was said to have been put on a number of film stars to refuse leading roles in the picture. It was also said that a number of writers were threatened causing some of them to refuse to do the script. This again resulted in the picture being withdrawn from production.

[REDACTED] has related that a group of motion picture writers, producers and directors who are aware of the Communist activity within the motion picture industry, had assembled considerable information setting forth the purposes and aims of the Communists in connection with the production of motion pictures. Among those who had done this were: James McGuinness, and Ayn Rand, screen writers; Robert Arthur, producer; Mrs. Robert Arthur and Morris Ryskind, free-lance screen writers as well as Lela Rogers, screen writer and producer. There is set out hereinafter the purpose of the Communists in Hollywood according to the information assembled by this group:

"The purpose of the Communists in Hollywood is not the production of political movies openly advocating Communism. Their purpose is to corrupt non-political movies by introducing small casual bits of propoganda into innocent stories and to make people absorb the basic premises of Collectivism by indirection and implication. Few people would take Communism straight, but a constant stream of hints, lines, touches, and suggestions battering the public from the screen will act like drops of water that split a rock if continued long enough. The rock that they are trying to split is Americanism".

This group has also prepared a list of some of the more common devices used by the Communists to disseminate their propoganda. They include the smearing of the free enterprise system, the smearing of industrialists, presenting of wealth as evil, presenting of success as evil, glorification of failure, glorifying depravity, glorifying collectivism, smearing the independent man and belittling of American political institutions.

In addition to the above, this group has pointed out that it is the Communist aim never to show the Soviet form of government or Soviet policies in an unfavorable light. According to [REDACTED] only 25% of a screen story has to be written by a particular screen writer to obtain the screen credits for writing the screen play. Consequently other writers, according to these sources, particularly Communists, can work on a motion picture script and their identity would not become publicly known.

As an additional indication of the influence to which members of the Screen Writers Guild were subjected, the following quotation is being set out. This quotation was taken from the Hollywood Reporter dated August 20, 1946, and is a statement made by John Howard Lawson at a "Party Line Indoctrination Center" to a young group of student actors.

"Unless you portray any role given you in a manner to further the Revolution and the Class War, you have no right to call yourself an artist or an actor...You must do this regardless of what the script says or of what the director tells you. Even if you are nothing more than an extra, you can portray a society woman in a manner to make her appear a villainess and a snob. And you can portray a working girl in such a way so as to make her seem a sympathetic victim of the capitalist system. It is your duty to do this at whatever studio you may find yourself employed."

In addition to the foregoing data, it must also be pointed out that the Communists' strategy and tactics included the use of the Aesopian language to disseminate and propagate their Communist ideologies. In other words, the Communists will use such words as Fascism or Democracy not in the same fashion as a true American. We understand as the meaning of Fascism, the type of government under Hitler and Mussolini, whereas the Communists in using the term Fascism mean any political action or word which is contrary to the Soviet Union. When we refer to a democratic government, we mean a true democracy as we have in the United States today, whereas the Communists in using the term democracy as applied to a form of government mean a government under the control of the State, free from capitalism and free enterprise which can only be possible in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. The use of this type of veiled propaganda utilized by the Communists may also be injected into motion picture films by the Communists and Communist sympathizers active in the writing and production of motion picture films.

In addition, Howard DeSilva, the actor, is a member of the supporting cast of this film and he has been identified as a Communist in Section I.

Katharine Hepburn, according to [REDACTED] has been associated with Communist inspired or directed activities in the Hollywood area. [REDACTED] made available a portion of the script of this picture which is taken from the opening scene. Christine is played by Katharine Hepburn and Steve by Spencer Tracy. Immediately preceding the scenes depicted in this script, Christine was married to a successful doctor but let him go to his death by driving into a washed-out bridge when she could have prevented his death. Christine is attempting to explain to Steve why she let her husband go to his death:

"Steve: I can believe in you so much that you can't help yourself. You'll have to be what I believe you are.

"Christine: (softly) I have been wanting to talk to you since that first night you came. I can fight you no longer. (after a moment) I married a legend—a legend about a hero. I didn't know that at first. I worshipped Robert. Perhaps to worship anyone is to destroy them. Everybody worshipped him—no, the image of him, the image that had been carefully built up in people's minds, deliberately built up I now believe, built up with a terrible purpose. When I found out what that purpose was I had to destroy the image. No, I had to destroy the man to save the image. Yes, that was it.

"Steve: What terrible purpose?

"Christine: I didn't know it was terrible once. You heard his mother this afternoon.

"Steve: His mother is insane.

"Christine: But Robert wasn't. He really believed in Hitler's new order.

"Steve: Robert Forrest!

"Christine: He had come to despise the people who worshipped him--all of us. (as Steve looks at her) Yes, me too. We were all beneath him. I didn't know what had happened. I suppose I was a bit like that myself. I believed in a few. Leaders. Rulers. And then, as Robert began to change, I saw the face of Fascism in my own home. Hatred. Arrogance. Cruelty. I saw what German women were facing. I saw the enemy.

"Steve: Robert Forrest.

"Christine: On the morning of the accident, I stole his keys, came here and opened this. (she moves to an enormous, specially-built filing cabinet) This is what I found. (as she speaks, she throws open the doors of the cabinet and we see a well-ordered array of drawers, cubby-holes, etc., containing papers, long lists of alphabetically indicated documents) Here is the key to Robert Forrest's Fascist organization. (she presses a button and a secret drawer jumps out) Of course, they didn't call it Fascism--they painted it red, white and blue and called it Americanism. (she takes out an ominous bunch of stocks and bonds) These are the funds to see it through, (she hands a stack of unnegotiable bonds to Steve) a fantastic amount subscribed by a few men to whom money meant nothing any more, but who wanted political power and knew they could never get it by democratic means. (she takes a card from an index) Here are their names. (Steve takes the card, glances at it, puts it in his pocket. Christine turns back to the cabinet) But what really sickened me was the essence of their plan. Here are some articles -- (from a drawer she pulls out a stack of typed manuscripts) all ready for release, to stir up the little hatreds of the whole nation against each other. (she hands Steve the first article) This is the copy of an article to be used in an anti-Semitic paper attacking the Jews. (she hands Steve the second article) This was to be used in the Farmers Gazette to stir them up against the city dwellers. (handing him another article) Here is an article to stir up hatred against the Catholics..(she gives him still another article) This is anti-negro...(handing him another article) This is against trade unions..(she gives him still another page) This is a subtle appeal to the Klu Klux Klan.

Steve examines each of the papers as she gives them to him. She goes back to the cabinet and produces more evidence.

"Christine: This is an interesting list of newspaper editors who had either sought public office in vain or had sought to dictate who would occupy office, and because they didn't succeed believed that the people were a great, stupid beast.

(while Steve is glancing at this paper, she turns back and runs her finger over the card index in a long drawer as she speaks) These were men who served their country in the last war but who were failures in business, who again longed for the power of rank and the prestige of a uniform. (she presses a button, which opens a spring door in the cabinet. She lifts out a small book) This contains the names and addresses of the men who were designated to be America's first storm troopers. (Steve's face hardens as he takes the book and shoves it into his pocket grimly) But what shocked me the most was the complete cynicism of the plan! Each of these groups was merely to be used until its usefulness was exhausted. Hates were to be played against hates. When one group seemed to be getting too powerful, it would be killed off with another group. And in the end all these poor little dupes who never realized to what purpose they were lending themselves would be in the same chains, cowed and enslaved, with Robert Forrest and his handful of power-thirsty henchmen cracking the whip."

According to [REDACTED] this is a good example of the negative approach and the indirect tactics used by the Communist writers in getting across the Communist Party line. He stated that in this script the writer has, in a veiled manner, attempted to make the audience believe that Fascism and Americanism are synonymous.

This picture was reviewed on February 14, 1945, by three Agents of the Los Angeles Office who were well schooled in Communist investigations and Communist Party propaganda. After reviewing this picture, they independently wrote reviews setting forth their opinions as to the Communist propaganda set out in the picture. A summary of their opinions is set out below.

In the first instance, the character, Colonel Von Beck, the German underground leader, was created and depicted as possessing all of the detested qualities attributed to the German race. The Major Phillip Carson, the American Army officer in charge of the liberated town of Kolar was depicted as a man and officer of very mediocre abilities. The British officer, Captain Forsythe, was depicted as being far below Major Carson in abilities and radiated weakness in all of his activities, whereas Lt. Andrei Krestov of the Russian Army was depicted as a superman in physical appearance and ability. He was shown as possessing ability to perform any type of task assigned to him and as being a real leader. A second example which appeared to contain propaganda was a series of scenes intended to give the impression that religious freedom exists in Russia. One of the scenes reflected that the young German officer was surprised to learn that religion was permitted in Russia. He appeared to be haunted by the vision of having thrown a hand grenade upon the altar of a church in the Ukraine. The main theme of the story was to establish unity of the United Nations in war and peace, which, of course, was the Communist Political Association line at the time this picture was produced. This is a praiseworthy theme, but it has particular significance when it is realized that the writer, Eiberman, is a former active leader of the American Peace Mobilization in Hollywood and later, with the change in Soviet policy, called for all out unity.

"NORTH STAR"

Released by RKO Pictures, Inc. on October 13, 1943

Producer -- Samuel Goldwyn

Associate Producer -- William Cameron Menzies

Director -- Lewis Milestone

Author -- Lillian Hellman

Screen play -- Lillian Hellman

Cast: Starring -- Anne Baxter

Dana Andrews

Walter Houston

Walter Brennan

Ann Harding

Jane Withers

The author and writer of the screen play for this production, Lillian Hellman, has been identified by [redacted] Confidential Informant of the New York Office, as a Communist. In addition, Confidential Informant [redacted] of the Los Angeles Office has reported that Hellman is a high ranking Communist who has associated exclusively with known Communists and Communist sympathizers for the past 20 years.

Lewis Milestone, the Director, according to [REDACTED] has associated with known Communists and Communist sympathizers.

Also, in the supporting cast is Ruth Nelson, actress, who is identified in Section I as a Communist.

In conjunction with this picture, it should be pointed out that Goldie Arthur, the ex-secretary of Samuel Goldwyn, well-known motion picture producer, and presently the wife of Robert Arthur, Universal Studios' producer, indicated that she was closely associated with the detail involved in the production of this picture. She related that Samuel Goldwyn had attempted to delete much of the obvious propaganda which was originally injected into this film. However, he was unable to take all of it out. This source reported that in addition to the giving of a fictitious picture of the situation in Russia, the film portrayed the idea that collective farming was the only successful way to farm.

"PRIDE OF THE MARINES"

Released by Warner Brothers on August 7, 1945
Producer -- Jerry Wald
Director -- Delmar Daves
Author -- Roger Hutterfield
Screen play -- Albert Maltz
Adaptation -- Marvin Borowsky
Cast: Starring -- John Garfield
Eleanor Parker

Albert Maltz, writer of the screen play has been identified in Section I as a Communist. In addition, John Garfield, leading actor in the motion picture, has been identified as a Communist.

According to [REDACTED] Jack Hoffitt, who wrote a review of this film in the Hollywood Review of September 10, 1945, is alert to the Communist tactics in the motion pictures and admitted this picture which was entertaining and well done, had Communist propaganda injected into it by the author. The following quotation is taken from Hoffitt's article:

"Unfortunately, the soap box hasn't been completely eliminated. In one sequence Mr. Daves and Mr. Maltz have dragged the old Party Line into their love story about as gracefully as if they were lugging a dead bear up a flight of stairs into a boudoir. They say everything they can think of to provoke doubts concerning representative government and the free enterprise system. Employers are accused of everything from racial prejudice to a conspiracy to scuttle the G.I. Bill of Rights. The screen should be used as a forum for public discussion. But there is a great deal of difference between honest argument and biased propaganda. There should be, as Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once put it, 'A free trade in ideas' so that the public can choose what is best in 'the competition of the open market'. That is the theory behind the American constitution. In the scene I refer to, many accusations are hurled which the other side gets no chance to answer. It represents, not a discussion, but a monopoly of ideas."

"SONG TO REMEMBER"

Released by Columbia Pictures, Inc., January 8, 1945
Producer -- Louis F. Edelman
Director -- Charles Vidor
Author -- Ernst Marischka
Screen Play -- Sidney Buchman
Cast: Starring -- Paul Huni
Merle Oberon
Cornel Wilde

The author of the screen play, Sidney Buchman, a well-known screen writer, has been identified in Section I of this memorandum as a Communist. [REDACTED], made the following remarks with regard to Communist propaganda injected into this picture, "Song to Remember":

"This motion picture represents a subtle complete distortion of historical facts. It deals with the life of Chopin. Chopin escapes from Poland and works in the underground against Russia during the revolutionary period in 1917. He further flees to Paris where he becomes acquainted with a rich woman who feels sorry for him because he is poor and ill. She takes him in and encourages him to study and compose music so that he may make something of himself and gain material wealth. Chopin's friends from Poland contact him and ask him to stop his work of composing and go on a tour and collect money which is to be donated to the people for the people's causes. They accuse him of being selfish.

"The rich woman who befriended Chopin is pictured as very evil. The picture deals much with the individual rights as against the rights of the masses. Chopin is convinced he must go to work for the people so he gives up his desire to carry on his work from Paris and goes on a tour where he becomes more ill and finally dies.

"The chief propaganda in addition to the above is that the man has no rights for himself but should live for the people and particularly persons of prominence like Chopin should even give his life for the masses so as to lead inspiration for them instead of gaining fame or glory for himself."

According to [REDACTED] formerly associated with RKO Studios who is an independent writer and producer, Arthur Rubinstein, the well-known pianist was known to have protested to Harry Cohen, head of Columbia Pictures due to the fact that the production distorted the fact. Cohen informed Rubinstein that very few of the American people would know the difference and he thought the picture would make money.

"THE BEST YEARS OF OUR LIVES"

Released by Samuel Goldwyn through RKO Pictures, Inc. On December 25, 1946

Producer -- Samuel Goldwyn

Director -- William Wyler

Screen play -- Robert Sherwood

(From the novel Glory for Me by Mackinlay Kentor)

Cast: Starring -- Myrna Loy

Frederic March

Dana Andrews

According to [REDACTED] the writer of this screen play, although not known to be definitely a Communist, was one who associated with them and frequently gave them aid and comfort. It was pointed out by these individuals that this was a good example of a picture in which the screen credits did not reflect any outstanding or well-known Communists as associated with the production of the picture but it was believed by these individuals that the script was "dressed" by Communist writers who did not receive screen credits. According to [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Howard Koch had done some of the work as a writer on this script. Koch is believed by [REDACTED] to be a Communist.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Frederic March, one of the starring actors in this play, has been identified by Confidential Informant [REDACTED] as a Communist.

Roman Bohnen and Howland Chamberlain, both of whom are identified in Section I of this memorandum as Communists, were included in the supporting cast.

The publication "Plain Talk," in the April, 1947, issue, carried an article written by William Markham in which Markham pointed out that this picture contained Communist propoganda which was subtly injected into the film. It was referred to as a masterpiece of "subversive half-truth."

[REDACTED] in discussing the picture, "The Best Years of Our Lives," stated the picture portrayed the upper class in a bad light. He recalled that the banker was portrayed as a mean, avaricious individual. One scene which [REDACTED] discussed as illustrating his point occurred when Frederic March went to see his boss, the banker, to tell the latter that he, March, had made a loan to a GI. Once March turned away, the banker's face changed and he registered disapproval of the former's action. This tended to show the banker as a mean individual. In the picture, according to [REDACTED] March attacked the banker at a public meeting which tends to give the audience the impression that bankers as a class are evil. [REDACTED] related that other unnecessary "stuff" was also put in.

William Z. Foster, national leader of the Communist Party, USA, held a meeting on September 10, 1947, in a Los Angeles Hotel with California State Secretary William Schneiderman and Los Angeles County Communist Party Chairman Ned Sparks. Agents of the Los Angeles Office who were in an adjoining room overheard Foster, in speaking of current motion picture productions, state with regard to the motion picture "The Best Years of Our Lives," "That was real stuff." He referred to this picture as well as "The Farmer's Daughter" and "Crossfire," which are also discussed in this Section, by stating, "They are standing them on their ears." Foster indicated that all three of these pictures were very fine productions.

"IT'S A WONDERFUL LIFE"

Released by RKO Pictures, Inc. on December 19, 1946.
Producer -- Frank Capra
Director -- Frank Capra
Screen play -- Frances Goodrick, Albert Hackett, Frank Capra
Cast: Starring -- James Stewart
Donna Reed
Lionel Barrymore

According to Informants [redacted] in this picture the screen credits again fail to reflect the Communist support given to the screen writers. According to [redacted] the writers Frances Goodrick and Albert Hackett were very close to known Communists and on one occasion in the recent past while these two writers were doing a picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Goodrick and Hackett practically lived with known Communists and were observed eating luncheon daily with such Communists as Lester Cole, screen writer, and Earl Robinson, screen writer. Both of these individuals are identified in Section I of this memorandum as Communists.

With regard to the picture, "It's A Wonderful Life", [redacted] stated in substance that the film represented a rather obvious attempt to discredit bankers by casting Lionel Barrymore as a "scrooge-type" so that he would be the most hated man in the picture. This, according to these sources, is a common trick used by Communists.

In addition, [redacted] stated that, in his opinion, this picture deliberately maligned the upper class, attempting to show the people who had money were mean and despicable characters. [redacted] related that if he had made this picture portraying the banker, he would have shown this individual to have been following the rules as laid down by the State Bank Examiners in connection with making loans. Further, [redacted] stated that the scene wouldn't have "suffered at all" in portraying the banker as a man who was protecting funds put in his care by private individuals and adhering to the rules governing the loan of that money rather than portraying the part as it was shown. In summary, [redacted] stated that it was not necessary to make the banker such a mean character and "I would never have done it that way".

[redacted] recalled that approximately 15 years ago, the picture entitled "The Letter" was made in Russia and was later shown in this country. He recalled that in this Russian picture, an individual who had lost his self-respect as well as that of his friends and neighbors because of drunkenness, was given one last chance to redeem himself by going to the bank to get some money to pay off a debt. The old man was a sympathetic character and was so pleased at his opportunity that he was extremely nervous, inferring he might lose the letter of credit or the money itself. In summary, the old man made the journey of several days duration to the bank and back with no mishap until he fell asleep on the homeward journey because of his determination to succeed. On this occasion the package of money dropped out of his pocket. Upon arriving home, the old man was so chagrined he hung himself. The next day someone returned the package of money to his wife saying it had been found. [redacted] draws a parallel of this scene and that of the picture previously discussed, showing that Thomas Mitchell who played the part of the man losing the money in the Capra picture suffered the same consequences as the man in the Russian picture in that Mitchell was too old a man to go out and make money to pay off his debt to the banker.

"THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER"

Released by RKO Pictures, Inc., on May 6, 1947

Starring: Loretta Young
Joseph Cotten
Ethel Barrymore

[redacted] an independent writer and producer, previously referred to in this section of the memorandum, related that the Communist propaganda in this picture was undoubtedly condoned by Dore Schary, producer, who [redacted] has had numerous arguments concerning the Communist form of government. Schary, according to [redacted] instructed at the People's Educational Center, a Communist influenced school previously discussed in this memorandum. According to Informant [redacted] Schary has been a close follower of the Communist Party line for a considerable number of years. In referring to the picture, [redacted] stated in substance that it was an obvious attempt to belittle present Congressional form of government in this country.

William Moorring, in an article entitled "From the Hollywood Sets" appearing in the National Catholic Monthly Magazine issue of August, 1947, stated with regard to the picture, "The Farmer's Daughter", the underlying effect of the film, viewed as one of the steady diets of such things, is to throw mud at the political factions known to oppose Communism, and furthermore, at the same time without naming the "Progressive" Party whose politics it upholds. It leaves with us the thought that only those who, like the farmer's daughter, believe in the naturalization of the banking system and other familiar tenets of Communism, are honest or humanitarian.

[redacted] in referring to this picture, advised that he did not believe it contained any direct Communist ideology. He stated it exposed the crooked dealings of the upper class in politics and that it showed the complete control by political methods of a wealthy family in a community. [redacted] stated that it was tempered, however, and that this family was not known as a vicious one.

"CROSSFIRE"

Released by RKO Pictures, Inc., June, 1947

Producer -- Adrian Scott
Director -- Edward Dmytryk
Screen play -- John Paxton
(Adopted from novel "The Brick Foxhole")
Starring: Robert Young

J

The producer of this picture is Adrian Scott and the Director Edward Dmytryk, both of whom are identified in Section I of this memorandum as Communists.

According to Informants [REDACTED] this picture is a good example in which the racial angle has been unduly emphasized. In a report prepared by the Southern California Motion Picture Council, Inc., which is a known non-commercial, non-political, and non-sectarian group of organizations which furnish representatives to review motion pictures as they are released and make certain recommendations, the following information is disclosed concerning "Crossfire":

"This picture is near treasonable in its implications and sowing efforts to arouse race and religious hatred, through mis-leading accusations; the use of a drunken, mal-adjusted soldier to typify our courageous service men and the use of minority groups to arouse suspicion and sympathy. This country was founded for religious freedom and has ever been the haven of security for the oppressed and persecuted of all nations. Here they have found peace, security and prosperity under just and equitable laws. Any effort to arouse class consciousness or antagonism is un-American; morally unsound; a perversion of facts and a sowing effort to create pernicious propaganda against unity and peace. It could have been a great picture, had the message of love instead of hate been consummated but it missed the mark, because one group was presented as intollerant, cruel and murderous, when all classes involved were to blame. The technical qualities are excellent. The photography is unusual. The opening scenes and music, which was impressive throughout, create an atmosphere of impending doom. The story, a complex murder mystery, involves four service men, Keeley, Montgomery, Mitchell, Floyd and Samuels, a Jew. The picture is socially and morally unsound and cannot be commended for any audience."

Mrs. William A. Turk, President of this organization, stated that in this picture one race is placed against another. [REDACTED] was advised with regard to this picture that certain of the speeches made by the actors were changed on the set and did not show up in the script. Specifically, he stated that a speech made by Robert Young in which he stated, "Jews have been killed, Catholics have been killed, that is the history of America", was altered on the set by the addition of the last phrase "that is the history of America".

It is of interest to point out that the Communist newspaper, the Daily Worker for August 31, 1947, in the column entitled "The Movies" by Harold J. Salemsen, indicates that the Daily Worker has taken the stand that the picture "Crossfire" is "a fine document against intolerance....It seems to us that the unconscious and semi-conscious anti-semitics are reacting very violently. The film MUST be hitting its mark..."

"BRUTE FORCE"

Released by United Artists, July, 1947
Producer -- Mark Hellinger
Director -- Jules Dassin
Screen play -- Richard Brooks
Starring: Burt Lancaster
Hume Cronyn
Charles Bickford

The director of this production, Jules Dassin, has been identified as a Communist in Section I of this memorandum.

Life Magazine dated August 11, 1947, in reviewing this picture pointed out that it was a picture with some good acting in it but "less praiseworthy is a turn about moral code which portrays each representative of law and order almost as a case history of depravity, while all the law breakers seem like real nice fellows". A review made by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers of Los Angeles, California, in the publication "Unbiased Opinions" reflected the following information concerning the film.

"The characters portraying the officers are as follows: the Captain of the guard is a Hitler type; the warden is a weakling holding on for retirement; the prison doctor is a humanitarian who can endure the suffering he sees only by using drink as a narcotic."

The review in this periodical by the California Federation of Business and Professional Clubs, states in part as follows:

"Socially, it is insidious for sympathy, (it) is directed toward criminals while officers pledged to uphold the law are presented as cruel, vicious, and sadistic."

[REDACTED] a confidential source of the Los Angeles Office who [REDACTED] reported that during the making of "Brute Force", Jules Dassin, the director, attempted to insert a scene which in [REDACTED] opinion was Communist propaganda. Dassin intended showing negroes and whites occupying the same cells and intended depicting some sort of strife between the races. [REDACTED]

"MISSION TO MOSCOW"

Released by Warner Brothers, May, 1943
Producer — Robert H. Buckner
Technical Director: Jay Leyda
Screen Play — Erskine Caldwell
Author — Joseph E. Davies

"Mission to Moscow", a Warner Brothers release of May, 1943, was produced by Robert H. Buckner. Buckner was a former correspondent in Moscow of the "London Daily Mail". According to [REDACTED] he selected J. Leyda to act as technical director for the picture. Leyda had been in Moscow at the same time as Buckner where he had been connected with the Bureau of Revolutionary Writers of the Soviet Motion Picture Industry. Leyda is identified in Section I of this memorandum as a Communist. He was also active in the League of American Writers, a Communist front group.

[REDACTED] has related that the actual writer of the screen play "Mission to Moscow" was Erskine Caldwell. Caldwell has been a member of the League of American Writers for many years. He also made several trips to the Soviet Union. At one time, he was associate editor of "Soviet Russia Today", a Soviet propaganda publication. Prior to August, 1939, he was in favor of a collective security. During the life of the Hitler-Stalin Non-Aggression Pact, he supported the program of the American Peace Mobilization and openly opposed Lend-Lease and Selective Service. After June 22, 1941, which was the date that the Soviet Union was invaded by the Nazis, he called for all-out aid to Britain, Soviet Russia and China.

The picture, "Mission to Moscow" is based upon the book, "Mission to Moscow" written by former United States Ambassador to Russia, Joseph E. Davies. The pro-Soviet propaganda disseminated through this picture was so obvious that it was criticized by numerous newspapers on these grounds. Informant [REDACTED] related the picture caused a controversy which resulted in the Communist Party's changing its technique of inserting Communist propaganda into motion pictures.

"CASS TILBERLANE"

Written by — Donald Ogden Stewart

Donald Ogden Stewart has been identified by Confidential Informant [REDACTED] of the New York Office as a Communist. According to Informant [REDACTED] Stewart has been affiliated with the Communist element in the motion picture industry for many years. [REDACTED] related that the captioned film is an example of distortion of facts. He related that the script deals with the "country club set" attempting to get government war contracts. Considerable effort on the behalf of this group was expended to maneuver Judge Timberlane out of town as he is represented as being an honest judge, the inference being that there are dishonest judges and this one was an exception. [REDACTED] related that furthermore this judge was pictured as a State judge when in reality a judge dealing with war contract cases should have been a Federal judge. Also this judge would have disqualified himself in connection with the trial in question.

According to [REDACTED] this picture, which has not as yet been released, is to be made available to the public in the immediate future.

"BUCK PRIVATES COME HOME"

Screen play -- Frederick Rinaldo
Starring -- Bud Abbott
Lou Costello

The screen writer, Frederick Rinaldo, has been identified in Section I of this memorandum as a current member of the Communist Party in the Los Angeles area.

According to [REDACTED] in the picture "Buck Privates Come Home", one scene portrays a party given for a General in the Army whereas intermingling scenes disclose an enlisted man on KP duty making the audience unnecessarily class conscious. In other scenes he depicts an enlisted soldier who remarks he is unable to go to the nurses quarters and makes the statement that enlisted man cannot go out with officers, the nurse in this case being an officer.

"TIME OF YOUR LIFE"

Screen play -- William Saroyan
Producer -- James Cagney

This picture is cited as an example of the rejection of anti-Communist propaganda, which was displayed at a session of the Arts, Sciences and Professions Conference of the Progressive Citizens of America held on thought control at the Beverley Hills Hotel on July 12, 1947. This meeting was attended by an Agent of the Los Angeles Office who related that the session was dominated by known Communists with the key-note address given by John Howard Lawson, Communist screen writer identified in Section I.

The last speaker at this meeting was Paul Draper, a well-known dancer, who discussed the captioned production. Draper stated that while reading the script he noted that it was to depict a play during the life of the Hitler regime and that his script required him to say a line which ridiculed Hitler and had the effect of calling Hitler the most serious menace of the day. Draper stated he realized that the comment concerning Hitler could have been written in Hitler's time and realized that the script should be revised. He related he asked the director, whose name he did not give, as to what line should be substituted for this line concerning Hitler. The director told Draper to substitute the name of Stalin for Hitler. Draper indicated that he realized the significance of such a statement and said he could not say such a line in the movie. He then commented to the audience that he had a great ambition to dance in the Soviet Union and the Balkans at some future date.

"BODY AND SOUL"

Released by Enterprise Productions

Producer -- R. B. Roberts
Director -- Robert Rossen
Screen Play -- Abraham Polonsky
Cast: Starring -- John Garfield
Lili Palmer
Anne Revere

The director, Robert Rossen, has been identified as a member of the Communist Party in Los Angeles. His Communist connections are set out in Section I of this memorandum. The screen writer, Abraham Polonsky, has also been identified as a Communist and his Communist connections are set out in Section I.

The cast includes John Garfield, who has been identified by Confidential Informant [REDACTED] as a Communist, and Anne Revere, who also has been identified as a Communist and her Communist connections are set out in Section I of this memorandum.

[REDACTED] who reviewed the picture "Body and Soul," stated that it deals with the prize fight racket and as far as Communist propaganda is concerned, he did not believe it was "as hot as others" he had seen. He related, "It portrays the rich and successful man in a bad light and the finest character of them all is a colored fighter." The colored fighter is managed by a dishonest promoter and is maneuvered into a position where he fights a bout with a clot on his brain and is killed. The manager, according to [REDACTED] "knows it will kill him and in the picture uses the line 'so what, it's business.'"

"This script as a whole, in story, theme, intention, and implication, is most certainly propaganda for Communism - or, more specifically, it is vicious propaganda against the capitalist system.

"The story presents a family of monsters in a small Southern town in the year 1830. All the members of the family are unspeakably depraved (except the mother, who is insane) and indulge in every possible kind of villainy, including incest. They are shown in a manner which implies that they represent a rising new social class - the businessmen.

"The sole motive of the family is greed for money. The father got his start by alleged 'profiteering' during the Civil War and by betraying Confederate soldiers to the Union Army for a financial reward. (He led Union soldiers to a Confederate camp, with the result that 27 young Confederates were slaughtered in their sleep - not a very flattering incident for the Union Army, incidentally.)

"The father, the two sons and the daughter now spend all their time lying, cheating, double-crossing, blackmailing one another and everybody - in order to get money. The pursuit of money is made to appear evil and sickening - and the audience is left with the impression that money can be obtained only by such methods, that these are the only kind of people who can become rich. This is not said explicitly, but it is implied very forcefully - because there is not one line of dialogue, not a single reference to any honest method of acquiring wealth. The Hubbards are not presented as a freak family of scoundrels. They are presented, by implication, as the rich.

"All the other characters of the story, everybody in the town where the action takes place, are poor, ruined by the Civil War. The Hubbards are the only rich in the midst of general devastation. If there are any other kind of rich people in the town, the story never mentions them.

"There is not a single 'good' or actually sympathetic character in the whole story. As sole contrast to the Hubbards, there are only some ruined Southern aristocrats, who are futile, helpless and stupid - such as the stuffy John Bagtry and the half-witted Birdie. These are presented as the only honest people and are placed in the position of 'sympathetic' characters - yet here is what they stand for:

"Pages 101-102:

BIRDIE

'John wants to go to Brazil right now.
The radical people down there are trying to abolish slavery, Mr. Hubbard, and ruin the "country. The planters have been looking for Confederate officers so John will be able to fight again for his ideals."

"Why don't you choose the other side? Every man needs to win once in his life."

JOHN

"I don't like that way of saying it. I fight for a way of life."

"Here it is clearly driven home that John is not just a character in a story, but the representative of a 'way of life.' The only representative of the other, new 'way of life' which has defeated him, the representative of the capitalistic North as against the feudal South, the accomplice of the Union Army - is Marcus Hubbard (and his vicious children). No, Marcus is not just a villain - he is the symbol of the new economic order. This is stressed explicitly on page 102, where Marcus says to John:

"Well, I disapprove of you. Your people deserved to lose their war and their world. It was a backward world, getting in the way of history. Appalling that you still don't realize it."

"The political message of the picture is certainly appalling. It tells people, in effect, that the course of American history consisted of a slave system which was replaced by something still worse, by the rise of capitalism - as exemplified by Marcus Hubbard. America had nothing to offer - except a choice between the 'ideals' of John Bagtry and the modern world of the Hubbards.

"This is not left merely to implication. It is stressed in a conversation between the two subhuman Hubbard sons, when Ben, the oldest, takes over his father's fortune through blackmail and looks forward to a brilliant financial future for himself.

"Pages 155-156:

BEN

"Big things doing all over the country. Railroads going across, oil, coal."

"OSCAR

(Eagerly)

'Think we got a chance to be big rich, Ben?'
Ben smiles.

"Here you have the filthy, contemptible implication that the magnificent progress of American industry in the last 19th century, the great spurt of productive energy unequalled in history, the 'railroads, oil and coal' were created by or for the profit of men such as Ben and Oscar!

"If the audience took this picture seriously, they would go out of the theater and murder the first person wearing a mink coat. The only thing to prevent this, will not be the authors' intention, but the lurid preposterousness of the story. The nondiscriminating, however, will leave the theater with a good charge of hatred and indignation against the rich, the businessmen and the American system as a whole.

"On page 119, Marcus Hubbard describes his past as follows:

'At nine years old I was carrying water for two bits a week. I took the first dollar I ever had and went to the paying library to buy a card. At fourteen I was driving mules all day and most of the night. But that was the year I learned my Greek, read my classics, taught myself --'

"This is a fairly subtle point, and the audience might safely miss it, but this passage is a parody on the life story of a self-made man. If Marcus Hubbard were intended to be taken as a plain criminal, he would have been shown spending his youth in reform schools or indulging in petty larcenies. But no, he is given the standard biography of a hard-working, ambitious self-made man. Only Communists would sneer at and discredit the kind of effort Hubbard claims to have made in order to rise and educate himself.

"On page 44, Hubbard's wife explains how he made his money during the Civil War:

LAVINIA

'People were dying for salt, and I thought it would be a kindness to run the blockade and bring it to them....Only I didn't think he would be asking eight dollars a bag for it - a tiny little one pound bag. Making money out of other people's misery!'

"Most people are quite confused on what constitutes war profiteering - so it is a standard Communist practice to denounce legitimate capitalist

"methods in the guise of denouncing 'war profiteering.' By the proper definitions of a free economy, only dishonesty in obtaining or executing government contracts can be classified as 'war profiteering.' The activity denounced in the above dialogue - a man running a blockade and making a profit on a product which he alone is able to supply - is not profiteering, and is not reprehensible. People were not forced to buy his product, they needed it desperately, and there is no definable limit to how much profit a man may or may not make. The mere conception of limiting profit is a collectivist idea. In a free economy, profit is established by supply and demand - and nothing else whatever.

"Such a line as the suggestion that somebody should run a blockade out of 'kindness' is economic demagoguery of the worst kind. Neither 'kindness,' nor 'noble intentions,' nor altruistic motives can produce goods or pay for them. Somebody has to produce them and somebody has to pay. It is this mixture of 'kindness' with economics that is the sure sign of someone preaching a Communist economy.

"The line 'Making money out of other people's misery!' is practically a bromide of the Communist propaganda machine. If such a slogan is repeated often enough and people actually accept it, it would justify any hungry bum in looting any grocer, because the grocer, too, could be defined as making money out of the bum's misery. The implication here is that it is evil to make money on something which others need. Since nobody buys anything unless he needs it, the further implication is that all profitmaking business is evil.

"Page 111, More of the same disgusting tripe:

' -- you got rich, bringing in salt and making poor, dying people give up everything for it. Right in the middle of the war, men dying for you, and you making their kinfolk give you all their goods and monoy!'

"Page 110, Marcus Hubbard says about his son:

'And he steals a little. Nothing much, not enough to be respectable.'

"This may be just a wisecrack - or it may imply that you have to steal a lot in order to become respectable in our society."

[REDACTED] also read the script and stated as follows:

"'The Children's Hour,' 'The Little Foxes' and now this. Three in a row dealing with the most degenerate characters I know. 'The Children's Hour' was a great picture, but made you sick at your stomach. 'The Little Foxes' - you wanted to go out and brush your teeth after you saw it. It was diseased; every character in it was diseased, and yet it was beautifully written. This script is beautifully written, and every character in it is diseased. There is no character here that has any virtue unless it be the mother who was sick-minded, with the exception of three negroes, the three servants in the house. When they appear they are bright and good.

"This picture deals with the South in 1830. It starts with a celebration of a kind of Memorial Day for 20 young Confederates who were murdered, massacred by the Union Army because someone led them to the place where the men were camping and it had never been known who led them. Well, the story develops that it was the rich man of the town today who led the Army to the hiding place. His name is Marcus; he is a money lender and owns the store and lends money at tremendous rates; he is either a Greek or he likes Greeks; he is always reading Aristotle. The mother is a weak, frightened woman, Lavinia, as we first see her, and she is nervous and jumpy and comes down to pray at this field and her husband has forbidden her to go to it. This fine young colored girl gets her in time to bring her back to the house because her husband is a martinet. There is a character of a fine decent Northern money lender who comes down to loan money at 7 per cent and not the 10 and 15 per cent that Marcus has been charging, and the Ku Klux Klan, of which the younger son of Marcus is a member, rides him down and beats him up. The suggestion here was that his father had ordered him to do it because he tried to get money from his father for the act.

"Regina, the younger sister, and daughter of Marcus, has been sleeping with one of the young Confederate men with whom she is in love who does not love her, and the elder brother plots against that situation in order to mix it up because he wants the sister to marry another young rich man. The Southern boy does not have any money. The brother wants his sister to marry a rich man instead of a poor one.

"It is a completely diseased group mentally and morally. The family attitudes and life are beyond belief when you read it, however, every character is believable because it is so finely done; that is to say, it is the same in all three plays. The characters are as believable in this play as they were in 'The Little Foxes' and 'The Children's Hour' because they are so magnificently drawn; because the woman is a magnificent writer."

The author, in portraying the characters, as has been stated above, showed them to be a completely degenerate lot. [redacted] said:

"They are the same people we met in 'The Little Foxes,' decayed gentry. Oscar, the second son of Marcus, is going to marry a little chippy that he calls one of the lower class, a little dance hall girl. The father answers: 'Some people are democrats by choice and some by necessity.' Ben, one of the brothers, tells his sister, in speaking of his father - 'Go up to him Regina, put your arms around him. Lie to him like you always do;' and in talking about his daughter's lover, Marcus epitomizes him as follows: 'A dead man, a foolish man from an idiot world, a man who wants nothing but war, any war, just a war; a man who believes in nothing and never will.'"

This line, according to [redacted] portrayed antiwar propaganda. [redacted] considered it significant that "all the children hate each other; the line occurred 'John wants to go to Brazil right now. The radical people down there are trying to abolish slavery and ruin the country. The planters have been looking for Confederate officers, so John will be able to fight again for his ideals.'" [redacted] stated that this gave him the opinion that this character wanted war anywhere at any time.

The speech on page 102 saying "Your people deserved to lose their war and their world. It was a backward world, getting in the way of history" was, according to [redacted] Communist propaganda. Other Communist propaganda lines, according to [redacted] was a speech on page 111 when a character named Lorette said: "How you got rich, bringing in salt and making poor, dying people give up everything for it; right in the middle of the war, men dying for you and making their kinfolk give you all their goods and money."

[redacted] considered the following line Communistic propaganda when Marcus, speaking of his son, said: "He steals a little. Nothing much, not enough to be respectable."

[redacted] further said, "The only characters there that are decent are the negroes and the insane mother." One incident was portrayed wherein none of the members of the family remembered the mother's birthday but the three negroes appeared in the scene in the midst of a family quarrel, carrying a cake which they had baked, showing that they were the only persons in the house who remembered the mother's birthday.

[redacted] considered significant the following incident in the script when the elder son returned home: He tells the negro to carry his suitcase upstairs, whereupon Marcus says: "Take your valise to your room. It is not seemly for a man to load his goods on other men, black or white."

██████████ saw Communistic propaganda in the following line of the father: "Though ignorance becomes a Southern gentleman, cowardice does not." And in speaking of his sons, Marcus says: "My eldest, a penny-grubbing trickster; my second, a proud illiterate." The scene wherein Colonel Isham, who represents the best people in the town, accepts bribe from Marcus because the Ku Klux Klan rode down and injured a waiter, is propaganda because it portrays the entire community as rotten and penurious. ██████████ summarized this picture by saying: "It is as straight a piece of propaganda as you could have for poisoning the mind against successful people."

██████████ With reference to the reviews and comments of ██████████ and ██████████ ██████████ it should be pointed out that they have vehemently requested that the Bureau keep confidential their identities as well as other individuals who review scripts for the Bureau. It is significant to point out that the scripts were obtained by the Los Angeles Office from reliable contacts at Universal-International and Paramount Studios who would be greatly embarrassed if it became known that the scripts were read by anyone connected with another studio. These scripts are considered as sacred property to the individual studio, and it is very difficult to get them for review.

Lawson, Maltz, Trumbo, Bessie, Dmytryk, Wexley, Rosson and Cole are Communists and their Communist affiliations are set out in Section I of this memorandum. Edward G. Robinson has been identified as a Communist by Informant [REDACTED]. Charles Chaplin, according to [REDACTED] may or may not be a member of the Communist Party. However, [REDACTED] has stated that Chaplin has always gone along with the Communist Party and has helped them financially. He stated that Chaplin has financed the West Coast Communist newspaper "Peoples World." John Garfield, according to Informant [REDACTED] has been affiliated with the Actors Laboratory, the Young Communist League, Hollywood Anti-Nazi League, Hollywood Democratic Committee and the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee for the Arts, Sciences and Professions. All of the above organizations, with the exception of the Young Communist League, the former youth group of the Communist Party, USA, are discussed in Section III of this memorandum. Garfield has also been identified as a Communist by [REDACTED].

Mikhail Kalatozov, Soviet motion picture representative came to Hollywood in August of 1943, where he endeavored to purchase American films. Among the films he sought to purchase were "Little Foxes" and the "Earl of Chicago." The first of these films depicts a degenerate Southern family, the latter is a story of a Chicago gangster in England. It may well be a part of Kalatozov's plan or propoganda technique to obtain such pictures in order to exhibit American life at its worst to the Soviet people, much in the manner that Adolf Hitler, through his propoganda ministry, tried to convince the German people for several years before the war that the United States was nothing more than a nation of Chicago gangsters.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Following Kalatosov's return to the Soviet Union, his duties were turned over to the Vice Consul in Los Angeles. Since that time there have been limited contacts between Soviet diplomatic representatives and motion picture personalities.

In May of 1946, Gregory L. Irsky, formerly of the Amtorg Trading Corporation; Leonid Kozmatov, film camera man; and Boris Tolstogowsov, a film technician, came to the United States from the Soviet Union as a commission to study scientific technique on behalf of the Soviet Union, to arrange for cinematographic equipment and to negotiate for technical assistance in the motion picture field. Informant [REDACTED] motion picture manufacturing company, related that Irsky in his contacts [REDACTED] indicated that he was endeavoring to disseminate Russian propaganda type films on various phases of Soviet life, such as the Soviet military strength, under the guise of educational features, to American schools and colleges. This project, of course, did not materialize.

[REDACTED]

The Los Angeles papers carried numerous stories reflecting that Konstantin Simonov held a party aboard a Russian ship anchored in the harbor at Los Angeles. Among those who attended this party were Mr. and Mrs. John Garfield, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chaplin and Lewis Milestone. The Los Angeles

Herald for May 28, 1946, reflected that the Jack Tenney (California State Legislature Un-American Activities Committee) group was going to conduct an investigation of this party. It was reflected that the committee was interested in the elaborate banquet which was provided for the guests--- "While millions are starving in Europe---providing an ironic touch to the celebration honoring the proletariat."

With regard to Simonov's visit to this country, the June, 1946 issue of the "Screen Writer," which is the official publication of the Screen Writers Guild, carried a transcript of an informal discussion held under the auspices of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization between Simonov and members of the Screen Writers Guild. The informal discussion was presided over by Dalton Trumbo, a Communist, whose Communist affiliations are set out in Section I and who is employed as a screen writer in the motion picture industry.

This article contained a question propounded to Simonov concerning the rights of a writer of his material. Simonov replied that Soviet writers do not sell their work outright to the film industry but rather only sell the right for screening, indicating that the right for publishing the material remains in the hands of the author. It should be pointed out that the Screen Writers Guild is the organization supporting the American Authors Authority, which program, conceived under Communist guidance, calls for the copyrighting and subsequent leasing of screen plays rather than the selling of screen plays to producers.

Artkino Pictures, Incorporated

Artkino Pictures, Incorporated, was chartered in New York on July 22, 1940. It was registered, listing as its foreign principal, Soyuzintorgkino, Moscow, USSR.

The organization claims that it is engaged in the importation of motion picture films from Soviet Russia and the distribution of these films in the Western Hemisphere. Although there is no apparent direct connection between Artkino Pictures, Incorporated, and the Communist Party, USA, several of the people associated with the organization have been identified either as members of the Communist Party, Communist Political Association or closely associated with the Communist movement through front organizations.

Rose Madell, who was listed as Vice President in January of 1947 of Artkino Pictures, Incorporated, is married to Sam Madell, alias Sam Muldofsky. Sam Madell has been reported by several reliable sources, including [REDACTED] and reliable informant [REDACTED] as being actively affiliated with the Waterfront Section of the Communist Party in New York.

Ginger Canor, switchboard operator at Artkino, is believed to be identical with Gertrude Canor, who was born in New York City on February 2, 1925. Reliable informant [REDACTED] a former member of the Communist Party and former confidential informant of the New York Office, reported that Ginger Robeson, believed to be identical with Ginger Canor, was among those present at the Inwood Victory Club of the Communist Political Association on February 6, 1945, at New York City. He also reported that she was among those present at two other meetings of this same Club, one held on December 26, 1944, and the other on January 23, 1945. Nancy Markoff, listed as a telephone operator at Artkino, has been referred to by informant [REDACTED] as a member of the OGPU, presently known as the MGB. At the present time this allegation has not been proven or disproven. However, investigation is being made to determine the exact status of this individual.

VI. INVESTIGATION OF COMMUNIST ACTIVITIES IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY BY THE COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The House Committee on Un-American Activities publicly announced on June 20, 1945, that it had voted to investigate subversive activities in Hollywood to determine whether film stars and producers were involved in a plot to overthrow the Government.

It would appear that this decision on the part of the Committee was reached as a result of articles appearing in Los Angeles newspapers following a meeting in the City of Los Angeles on June 8, 1945, sponsored by the "New Masses," a Communist publication, and held in honor of William Gropper, cartoonist for the publication. Principal speakers included Richard Bransten, also known as Bruce Minton, former contributing editor of the "New Masses," and his wife, Ruth McKenney, also a former contributing editor of the "New Masses," as well as Joseph Foster, film editor of "New Masses." With regard to Richard Bransten and Ruth McKenney, it will be recalled that on September 19, 1946, these individuals were expelled from the Communist Party for an unauthorized release of a report on the National Plenum of the Communist Party held in July of 1946.

The Los Angeles papers reflected that the speakers indicated that Communist propaganda and activities in the future would be centered around Hollywood, that Communists were seeking to strengthen their ties with the White House, that pressure must be exerted to continue lend-lease to Russia and that "the thousands of pretty young girls in our Communist Youth Movement must volunteer as hostesses in USO's, canteens, churches, social groups—wherever the soldiers, sailors, and marines seek recreation and are prone to listen to persuasive voices." The latter quoted statement concerning young girls in the Communist movement appeared in the Los Angeles Examiner. However, the Agents of the Los Angeles Office who were in attendance at this meeting stated that this quotation was an inaccuracy on the part of the paper. The Agents attending the meeting also pointed out that the Examiner made the statement that the program presented had been "carefully blueprinted in New York City by Earl Browder and other American Soviets." No such statement in fact had been made at the meeting.

The Congressional investigation was held as a result, and following the investigation the Committee prepared three confidential reports. The first report contained many blanket statements and conclusions which did not appear to be supported by evidence.

The first section of this report was devoted to the naming of some of the prominent Communists in Hollywood. The second section dealt with the Actors Laboratory, a Communist-influenced group, the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions (formerly known as the Hollywood Democratic Committee), the Emergency Committee on KFI, the Anti-Defamation League, the Peoples Educational Center and the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, all of which were referred to as Communist-inspired groups, with brief statements concerning the activities of known Communists connected with these groups.

The next section set forth a list of names of individuals "believed to be" members of the Party in the Hollywood area. Section Four dealt with Communist activities in the various guilds in Hollywood and contained for the most part general statements concerning these guilds.

Part Five entitled "Communists in Labor Unions," was devoted in the main to Herbert K. Sorrell, one of the principal figures in the motion picture industry strikes. Part Six entitled "Russian Government's Interest in Motion Pictures," discussed primarily the visit of Mikhail Kalotozov to Hollywood. Kalotozov, who was in Hollywood during 1943 was a representative of the Soviet Film Industry, Soyuzintorgkino. The motion picture, "Mission to Moscow" was also discussed in this section, particularly with regard to the newspaper comments made concerning it, indicating that the picture was nonfactual and untruthful. The conclusion of the report discussed the aforementioned Communist meeting held in honor of the "New Masses." A considerable portion was also devoted to the alleged trouble that Ivan Levedoff, actor and writer, had in obtaining employment because he was opposed to Communists and Communism.

The second report, which was called a supplemental report, was dated September 28, 1945, and reviewed the publications: "International Theater," said to be an official publication of the International Union of the Revolutionary Committee, published in Moscow, Russia; "The New Theater," an American publication, the organ of the Workers Committee, which was a section of the International Union of the Revolutionary Theater; "International Literature," said to be an organ of the International Union of Revolutionary Writers published in Moscow; and the "T.A.C. Magazine," an American publication sponsored by the Theater Arts Committee. The international and Communist connections of these publications from available copies were reviewed and set out in this report.

The third report, another supplemental report, issued early in 1946, limited its scope to the activities and affiliations of the Communist activities engaged in by the writers employed by Metro-Goldwyn Mayer Studios.

This same Congressional Committee on December 3, 1946, held a preliminary hearing in Los Angeles concerning the Communist activity in the film industry and, according to reports received, only three witnesses were called and the hearings were superficial. The Committee announced, however, that it would return in January of 1947 to conduct extensive hearings on all phases of this type of activity in Hollywood.

The next statement concerning Communist activity in the motion picture industry was made by you in your testimony before this group on March 26, 1947. On this occasion you pointed out that the Communists launched their attack in Hollywood during 1935, directing their activities at the infiltration of labor unions and so-called intellectual and creative fields. You stated that the Communist activity in Hollywood was effective and was furthered by Communists and Communist sympathizers who used the prestige of prominent individuals in the film colony to further their cause. You also stated that the Communists endeavored to insert into motion pictures Communist propaganda and to eliminate anti-Communist statements.

Following your testimony you will recall that Eric Johnston, of the motion picture industry, testified before this Committee. The Washington Post in reference to Johnston's appearance quoted him as stating, "As for there being Communist influence in the movies, such an accusation is absurd. If Hollywood were a Communist network, I should not be attacked every morning in the 'Daily Worker'! — as I can assure you I am —."

As you will further recall, Father Cronin telephonically advised Mr. Tamm that Johnston had requested him to draw up a program for the elimination of Communists in the motion picture industry. You will also undoubtedly have noted that Mr. Johnston and his associates have retained former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes. Byrnes, however, is only to act in an advisory capacity concerning the pending Un-American Activities hearings on Communism in the motion picture industry. These actions on the part of Johnston do not show a consistency with his statements as quoted in the Washington Post and referred to above.

Confidential Informant [REDACTED] of the Los Angeles Office, advised that members of the Un-American Activities Committee arrived in Hollywood on May 8, 1947, amid a great fanfare of press releases and headlines, to conduct an inquiry concerning Communism in the motion picture industry and to ascertain specifically the activities of Hanns Eisler, the brother of Cerhardt Eisler, who is employed in the motion picture industry as a writer.

Novelist Rupert Hughes testified before the Committee on May 15, 1947, at which time he stated that Communists dominated Hollywood to a large degree and specifically mentioned Charles Chaplin and John Howard Lawson. Jack Warner, Vice President of Warner Brothers Studio, also is said to have testified and complimented the Committee on the work it was doing.

Chairman Thomas of the Committee complimented Adolf Menjou for his enlightening presentation before the Committee, stating that Menjou testified that Communists in the film industry were so powerful that many of the "little people" were afraid to move against them.

Mrs. Lela Rogers, mother of Ginger Rogers, who appeared before the Committee, referred to "The Little Red School House" as being the People's Educational Center in Hollywood and also testified concerning an alleged Communist statement that her daughter refused to say in the motion picture "Tender Comrade."

Robert Taylor also testified, relating that he was forced by Lowell Mellett, former Administrative Assistant to the late President Roosevelt, into playing in a motion picture which favored Russian ideologies over American. The Los Angeles Examiner of May 15, 1947, from which this information was obtained, reflected that Mellett was also affiliated with the Office of War Information as the Director of the Motion Picture Division. The article further reflected that Mellett specifically came to Hollywood for the express purpose of overruling Taylor's objection to appearing in the 1943 release "Song of Russia."

Other individuals prominent in the film world who appeared before the Committee included screen actor Richard Arlen and Henry Ginsberg, Vice President in Charge of Production at Paramount Studios. Viktor Kravchenko, estranged Soviet official, appeared before the Committee and was quoted by the Los Angeles Examiner for May 17, 1947, as having stated that Hollywood was a serious intellectual front in the United States and it was necessary to clear Hollywood of the Communists and Communist sympathizers.

The New York Times of May 17, 1947, quoted Chairman J. Parnell Thomas of the Un-American Activities Committee as asserting after a week of hearings on subversive activities in Hollywood that "ninety per cent of the Communist infiltration" was in the screen writing field, but that the Federal Government had also abetted the work. He related that in the testimony of fourteen actors, writers, and producers, a very outstanding point that appeared many times was the influence of the "Government in aiding the Communist conspiracy."

The article also reflected that Mr. Thomas stated he reported testimony reflecting that even the White House exerted its influence on certain people in Hollywood to have certain pro-Russian motion pictures filmed during the regime of the late President Roosevelt.

He also indicated that he was not only referring to the incident which came out as a result of the testimony of Robert Taylor, but to other statements made by actors and producers who indicated how the Government persuaded them to put out Communist propaganda in their productions.

On July 21, 1947, it was ascertained that the Un-American Activities Committee had retained the services of former Special Agents H. Allen Smith and A. Bernard Leckie to investigate Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry in the Hollywood area. In connection with this assignment, Mr. Smith called at the Bureau and was interviewed by Mr. J. P. Mohr, at which time he advised that he had been retained by the Committee at the rate of $25 per day and that his legal associate, former Special Agent A. B. Leckie, would receive $22.50 per day. Smith related that he had been informed that the objective of his investigation was to line up friendly witnesses and those unfriendly witnesses which the Committee will desire to call. He said it was his purpose to line up approximately 25 or 30 good witnesses who can through proper questioning expose the entire Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry. According to Smith, he gathered the definite impression that he could anticipate considerable pressure to buy him off and to buy off his investigators. He anticipated this pressure would come from Eric Johnston and through sources employed by him. He related that he was informed that two of Johnston's representatives visited the Committee in an effort to find out what the Committee intended to do and how far they intended to go in their investigation of Communism in Hollywood. Smith related that he understood that Congressman Thomas told these representatives he wanted to have nothing to do with them and kicked them out of the office. Smith indicated that he would keep the Los Angeles Office of the Bureau fully informed of his activities and that he is desirous of letting the Bureau know of anything pertinent to our investigations which may come to his attention.

On July 23, 1947, SAC Hood had a lengthy interview with L. B. Mayer of MGM Studios concerning the hearings conducted last spring by the Un-American Activities Committee. According to Mayer, the Committee did itself a great deal of harm by publishing the testimony of Robert Taylor, inasmuch as it was understood by Taylor and other witnesses that their testimony was to be "off the record." Mayer stated that Robert Taylor was mistaken about the actual facts to which he referred, and Mayer attributed this to Taylor's antagonism toward Communism and related that if necessary he, Mayer, would have to state that Taylor was mistaken. Mayer related that at one time during the war he received a telephone call from Elmer Davis, the head of the Office of War Information, requesting that the film "Mrs. Miniver" be released nationwide as soon as possible in an effort to combat the strong anti-British feeling which was developing in this country. Instead, therefore, of playing large houses in the big cities, which is done with big pictures, it appeared almost simultaneously throughout the country. As a result, the studio's gross was approximately $5,000,000 less than it would have been had it been distributed in a normal way. He related that sometime later, Government officials were most anxious that some kind of a picture be made to put the Russians in a better light with the American people. Consequently, the film, "Song of Russia," starring Robert Taylor, was made by MCM. Mayer, according to Mr. Hood, could not or would not state exactly who had requested that this film be made. Mayer stated that there were many governmental agencies maintaining liaison with the studio and that he could not recall which one of them handled this particular picture. He stated that he recalled that there was some Communist propaganda in the script as it first appeared and he ordered that all references to collective bargaining and the like be stricken. Mr. Mayer related that he is certain that the film contains no Communist propaganda. Mayer told Lowell Mellett and the Secretary of the Navy, Frank Knox, that he did not care whether they made the picture or not, but if the Government wanted it made and wanted Taylor in it, then it would be necessary that his induction into the Navy Air Service be postponed until the picture could be completed. It was felt that if his Naval induction was held up, he might be inducted into the Army by his Draft Board and, therefore, it was necessary to make a deal with the Draft Board to defer his induction, resulting in Taylor being permitted to remain and the film being produced. Mayer stated positively that this was the real truth of the story, and that Taylor was not ordered by anyone to make the film and he feels that when hearings are held in Washington in September, Mellett's testimony and his, Mayer's, if he is called upon, will make the Committee look ridiculous for having jumped at the publicity on Taylor's erroneous statement.

It is of interest to point out that Mayer was frank to admit to Mr. Hood that he knew there were some Communists in his studio and related that he was willing to discharge all these Communists, but that if he did so his Communist writers would be grabbed up by other studios immediately and paid more money than he is paying them at the present time. This, apparently, was his excuse for having these people on his pay roll.

The Washington Evening Star on July 30, 1947, carried an Associated Press release reflecting the statement made by Representative Nixon, Republican of California, in which he said that the Un-American Activities Committee intends to name names and to produce witnesses who will testify that they have seen persons prominent in Hollywood at Communist meetings and who will report what they said. Nixon related that most of the big stars who may figure in the inquiry will be listed as "tinged with pink, rather than as bright red Communists." According to Nixon, whether any actual Communists or fellow travelers will testify at the hearings, even under subpoena, will develop later. He said that they may follow the Party line of refusing to testify on the grounds that they would incriminate themselves.

The Washington Times-Herald on August 27, 1947, carried a United Press release indicating that former Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles; George Messersmith, former Assistant Secretary of State and Ambassador to Mexico and Argentina; Joseph Saboretti, Assistant Immigration Commissioner; Clarence R. Porter, Chief Inspector of the Immigration Service in Calexico, California; and Mr. P. C. Hutton, Second Secretary and Consul of the United States Embassy at Guatemala City, were to be subpoenaed before the Un-American Activities Committee. Specifically, the Committee, according to the article, wants Welles "and presumably the other four," to explain how and why Hollywood writer Hanns Eisler, brother of Gerhardt Eisler, got official permission to enter and remain in the United States.

██████████ Investigator for the House Committee on Un-American Activities confidentially furnished Special Agent in Charge R. B. Hood of the Los Angeles Office with a list of possible unfriendly witnesses whom the Committee intends to subpoena in connection with the pending hearings of the Committee in Washington, D. ██████████ also advised Mr. Hood that the following individuals are intended to be used as friendly witnesses:

Brewer, Roy E.
Chase, Bordon
Cooper, Gary
Disney, Walt
Gibbons, Cedric
Hughes, Rupert
McCarey, Thomas Leo
McGuinness, James
Menjou, Adolphe

Moffitt, John Charles
Montgomery, Robert
Murphy, George
Rand, Ayn
Reagan, Ronald
Rogers, Lola E.
Ryskind, Morrie
Taylor, Robert
Wood, Sam

In connection with this pending hearing, ██████████ has confidentially advised Mr. Hood of a recent telephonic conversation he had with Robert Stripling of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. According to ██████████ he was advised that a tremendous amount of pressure had been put on the Committee by all sources, including Congressional, to call off or otherwise influence the Committee's action on this pending hearing into Communism in the motion picture industry. ██████████ related that in his conversation with Stripling he proposed that the witnesses be called approximately as he has indicated in the schedule prepared by ██████████ for the hearing; however, Stripling was not in complete accord with ██████████ desire in this regard.

Investigator ██████████ has informed Mr. Hood that he is concerned over the procedure and method of operations to be utilized by the Committee in handling the pending hearing. ██████████ has related that he has definitely promised the witnesses from California that they are going to testify along the lines which he has discussed with them. ██████████ related that a great number of the witnesses are worried that the Committee in an effort to create publicity will go off on some tangent. He related that he has tried to point out to Stripling that he wants to give the impression that the inquiry is not one to attack the industry but rather to show that the motion picture industry is being attacked by the Communists. ██████████ related that it is his desire to show that the House Committee on Un-American Activities is endeavoring to expose this Communist activity and thus strengthen the position of the industry.

██████████ has indicated that he intended to proceed by air to New York on September 15, 1947, and on the following day meet with Mr. J. Parnell Thomas, Chairman of the Committee, as well as other members of the Committee in order to make plans for the hearing. Prior to leaving California, ██████████ furnished Special Agent in Charge Hood of the Los Angeles Office with a copy of a schedule of witnesses which he hopes will be used at the hearing. This schedule is set out in its entirety hereinafter:

"After several discussions between [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] the following tentative schedule of witnesses has been arranged:

1. Jack L. Warner Time allowed: $\frac{1}{2}$ day
Co-Owner, Warner Brothers

Comment: From reading Warner's previous testimony, it appears that it is the best that we have, and he can lay a fine pattern of Communism in the industry. He can show the trouble that he had and what he did, and express his wonder as to why the others have not followed his actions. He will call them what they are, and state he threw them out.

Let him say that he is an American and even if he has to suffer financially, he does not intend to have them in his studio, and will continue to suffer financially until such time as he has all Americans. Then, it is interesting to note that last year the Warner Brothers' statement was the best in its history, and it might be that we can bring this in to our benefit. We have not interviewed Warner, and he will not be back until around October 1st, but we are advised that he will not go back on his testimony.

2. Louis B. Mayer Time allowed: $\frac{1}{2}$ day
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

Comment: Mayer can testify regarding 'Song of Russia,' 'Tennessee Johnson,' and the fact that there is no law and until there is a law, he does not feel there is anything particular he can do to Communists. We believe he will say that if there is a law, or if the other studios would get together, he would dismiss them, but he does not want to fire somebody and have another studio get the benefit of it. We think that having Mayer follow Warner will have the psychological effect that Mayer will try to be a better American than Warner.

3. Leo Cherne Time allowed: 1 hour

Comment: This individual is in New York and his name has been forwarded to Stripling. It is stated that he is very reliable and can lay a general pattern of the development of Communism.

4. Roy E. Brewer Time allowed: 1 day
Internat'l Representative, IATSE

Comment: This individual can lay a general pattern of Communism in the labor industry.

-  Two unfriendly Communist witnesses should be called at this point, their names to be selected later.

5. Robert Montgomery)
6. George Murphy) All Actors Time allowed: 1 day
7. Ronald Reagan)

Comment: The first two of the above individuals are past presidents of the Screen Actors Guild. Reagan is now President. They can give the history of Communism in the Guild, and express their opinions otherwise.

-  Two or three more Communists, to be selected later, should be called at this point.

8. Robert Taylor Time allowed: 2 hours
Actor

9. Sam Wood Time allowed: 2 hours
Director-Producer

-  We should call Lowell Millett here.

-  A couple more Communists, to be selected later, should be called here: Possibly Richard J. Collins, if we have sufficient information, as he was a writer on 'Song of Russia,' regarding which incidents Taylor and Wood will discuss from the Millett angle.

10. Adolphe Menjou Time allowed: 1/2 day
Actor

Comment: He will discuss the general situation.

11. James K. McGuinness Time allowed: 1/2 day
Vice President, MGM

Comment: He will discuss the general situation, the beginning of the fight in the Screen Writers Guild, the young writers' troubles, Authors Authority, and 'Tennessee Johnson.'

"20. Leo McCarey

Time allowed: 1 hour

Comment: Concluding witness, from his statements regarding Americanism, that he will not permit Communists in his pictures, etc. Would not make a picture with Hepburn, etc.

Note:

If we call Lewis Milestone as an unfriendly witness, he probably should be subpoenaed just before Cooper, and if we locate Louis D. Lighton and he can testify, we should probably substitute him in place of someone else, possibly Lela Rogors; or let him testify along with Cooper.

One reason for calling Cooper and McCarey the last day is that they are both engaged in a picture, and if we can bring them back together we will save them thousands of dollars.

From the above schedule, we have first the studio heads, followed by the labor and technical experts, followed by actors from the Screen Actors Guild standpoint; then the special incidents of Robert Taylor, 'Song of Russia,' Wood, and Lowell Millett; followed by general witnesses; then the Screen Writers Guild, the picture analysis, and closing with three witnesses who are very pro-American."

VII. ASSOCIATION OF MOTION PICTURE PRODUCERS, INCORPORATED
5504 HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD, LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

James Howie of 5504 Hollywood Boulevard, who is the counsel for the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Incorporated, on July 24, 1947, advised that the captioned group was incorporated in the State of California in January of 1924. He stated that this organization is affiliated with the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, formerly known as the Hayes Office, which was organized and incorporated in New York in 1922.

The Hollywood Studio Blue Book Directory, Spring Edition, 1947, lists the following officers and members of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Incorporated:

|---------------------------------------|--|
| Eric Johnston (Temporarily vacant) | President Executive Vice President and Chairman of the Board |
| James S. Howie | Secretary and Treasurer |

Board of Directors

|------------------|-------------------|
| John Beck, Jr. | B. B. Kahane |
| Warren Doane | Edgar J. Mannix |
| Marvin Ezzell | N. Peter Rathvon |
| Y. Frank Freeman | Joseph M. Schenck |
| Herbert Freston | Allen Wilson |

Members

|-----------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| Columbia Pictures Corporation | Samuel Goldwyn Productions |
| Loew's Incorporated | Paramount Pictures, Incorporated |
| RKO Radio Pictures, Inc. | Republic Productions |
| 20th Century Fox Film Corporation | Hal Roach Studios |
| Universal Pictures Company | Warner Brothers Pictures |

The Los Angeles Office has advised that the data contained in their files, together with a check of all other sources and informants on Communist activities, fails to reflect any Communist activities or associations on the part of the above-named individuals.

In connection with the officers set out above, it should be pointed out that the Los Angeles Times newspaper for June 3, 1947, disclosed that Eric Johnston had announced the election of Y. Frank Freeman, a Vice President of Paramount Pictures, Incorporated, to the Chairmanship of the Board of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Incorporated, and that James F. Dyrnes, former Secretary of State, would serve as counsel for the Association. In this same article Johnston is quoted as saying, "We are determined that subversive propaganda, government pressure or political censorship will never undermine the freedom of the screen, which, like the freedom of the press and radio, is indispensable to a free America."

According to Mr. Howie, the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Incorporated, was originally organized to invest a moral code on the motion picture industry and that the Association had never had any legal or other provision to keep out or to investigate Communist propaganda and activities in the preparation of motion pictures by member studios. Howie related that there is at present considerable controversy among the members of the Association as to the setting up of a committee to investigate Communist activity in the motion picture industry and to eliminate those individuals responsible for it, or to merely restrict its scope to the making of recommendations to the industry.

According to Mr. Howie, Eric Johnston, President of the Association, during the week of July 14, 1947, held a conference of the officers of the Association, at which time he made the following statement:

"We must have legal proof that a person is a Communist or otherwise subversive before this office will recommend that he be fired, because most persons in the industry are working under contract, which would result in legal suits for damages. We will cooperate with responsible agencies of the government to unearth subversive activities, but we are not in agreement with some of their methods."

According to Mr. Howie, Johnston indicated that he did not like the publicity seeking committees who were injecting political angles into their investigations and, in particular, mentioned Dies, Rankin and Thomas as being in this category.

Eric Johnston's present personal assistant is Edward T. Cheyfitz, who, according to Mr. Howie, spends a considerable part of his time in Washington and New York City making frequent trips to the Hollywood area on major assignments given him by Eric Johnston. He related that some weeks ago Cheyfitz came to the West Coast to collaborate in the making of particular labor propaganda pictures for the Motion Picture Association at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios. Cheyfitz's one-time affiliation with the Communist Party is admitted by him.

On October 13, 1942, at his own request, Cheyfitz was interviewed by Special Agents in Toledo, Ohio, at which time he volunteered certain information concerning his past activities in the Party. He admitted having been a Communist member at large in the State of Ohio and active as an organizer in the CIO Die Casters Union throughout the United States with other Communist leaders who had been appointed by him at the recommendation of John Williamson of the Communist Party National Committee. Cheyfitz claims he was expelled from the Communist Party shortly after the Soviet-Nazi non-aggression pact due to an article he wrote in opposition to the pact.

The Los Angeles Office has at the present time no record or other evidence indicating that Cheyfitz is currently a member of the Communist Party. [REDACTED] of the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees in Hollywood, California, related that in his dealings with Cheyfitz he has been led to believe that Cheyfitz is sincerely anti-Communist at the present time.

As a possible indication of the current estimate of Cheyfitz by the local Communist element in the Hollywood area, the Los Angeles Office has advised it is in possession of the original of a letter dated July 26, 1946, on the letterhead of the Los Angeles CIO Council. This letter, which was made available by [REDACTED] who is at present [REDACTED] at the University of California at Los Angeles, on May 10, 1947, is signed by Philip M. (Slim) Connelly, Secretary of the CIO Council, and is addressed to Pauline Lauber of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization, both of whom have been identified in this memorandum as Communists. The letter reads as follows:

"You may remember the jerk who signs the attached letter (Edward T. Cheyfitz). He was once National Secretary of one of our unions and was as phoney as hell. I'm sending this to you simply for information, however, if the boys feel that any time they can benefit by contact with Cheyfitz they should feel free to do so."

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] who is an extremely reliable confidential source of the Los Angeles Office, advised that Paul McNitt had agreed to represent the Policy Committee of the Motion Picture Industry in the pending hearings before the Un-American Activities Committee and that former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes would act in the capacity of an advisor. [REDACTED] related that he believed it was not proper for a former Justice of the Supreme Court and a former Secretary of State to become involved in the political end of these hearings. It is anticipated, according to this source, that McNitt will be in constant attendance during the sessions of the pending hearings and will attempt to formulate questions and handle the people who are appearing from the motion picture industry in order to prevent a smear of the Hollywood motion picture industry. According to [REDACTED] the Policy Committee of the motion picture industry is made up of the following individuals: Nate Spingold; Austin Keough; Robert Rubin and Joe Hazen of New York; Mendel Silberberg; Maurice Benjamin; Al Wright and this source of Hollywood. [REDACTED] identified these individuals by stating that they are for the most part attorneys.

The 1947-48 International Motion Picture Almanac contained the following identification with regard to the above individuals:

Spingold, Nate. First Vice President, Columbia Pictures Corporation.

Keough, Austin. General Counsel, Vice President and Director Paramount Pictures.

Rubin, Robert. Vice President, General Counsel, MGM.

Hazen, Joseph H. With the law firm of Thomas and Friedman. In 1944 resigned as Vice President and Director of Warner Brothers to join Hal Wallis Productions as President.

Silberberg, Mendel. Attorney, General Counsel for Columbia Pictures in Los Angeles

Benjamin, Maurice. Attorney, West Coast Counsel for MGM.

This source, [REDACTED] related that Byrnes was thinking of asking the FBI in Washington to give him the names of persons prominent in the motion picture industry who are Communists so that they can really be exposed at the forthcoming hearings.
